

— More Huge Putting By Nelson At Tyson —

by Roy Conrad

Fayetteville, Arkansas, February 15-16—
Eager to upgrade to gold after two consecubest shape I have ever been in. I could have thrown a lot farther. We have the best shot putters in the world; it's pretty tough. The in-

Field Event

SP: 1. Nelson (Nik) 73-6 (22.40) PR (WL, AL) (3, 3W; 2, 2 A) (in/out: x, =11 A) (65-3½,

Nelson joined the 72-foot club at Millrose; now he's a member of the 73-footers

tive Olympic silvers, Adam Nelson is beginning his Beijing year at the top of his game.

As the year began he was No. 14 on the all-time world indoor list in the shot at 71-¾ (21.66). Two weeks ago he improved to No.
7 at Millrose with his 72-5 (22.070), but it was at the Tyson Invitational that he really let loose, climbing all the way to No. 3 ever with his massive 73-6 (22.40) explosion.

After modest opening puts of 65-3½ (19.90) and 69-8¾ (21.25) he unleashed his monumental throw. In a tight 4-throw competition, he fouled his final attempt.

"It meant so much to win with my family
here," he said. "They are from a little town called Turner, Arkansas. There are about 25 of them here. I started three weeks ago with some unexpected throwing. I'm in the door season this year is great preparation for the outdoor season, because it's all about the Olympics this year."

eTN Q&A: Tim Broe

T&FN's Sieg Lindstrom checked in last week with Athens 5K finalist Tim Broe, who has been sidelined with a foot injury since the end of the '05 season. The 30-year-old Alabama alum still plans a comeback but says time is too short to do it in '08.

T&FN: What's the story?

Broe: I haven't really been able to run for quite a long time—on and off since the end of the '05 season. So now I've gotten back to running on a daily basis to a point where if I'm going to be training heavily it's a little too late. I'm not ready to face a big comeback or cut corners. It's not that it doesn't seem worth it; I just don't think it's feasible. So I'm just taking it day by day.

T&FN: How much running are you doing?

Broe: Like a half hour a day.

T&FN: Are you still having foot problems?

Broe: Yeah, I did. I did. It seems to be OK at the moment. I had a minor procedure—not even a minor procedure, an ultrasound thing—done in December. Hopefully that takes care of it once and for good, but it just needed a long break.

And unfortunately, taking that long off... I mean, I've run in between. I'd try to run here and there and I'd have a month or two before it got bad enough again. So I'm kind of just taking it day by day and not stressing over it really.

T&FN: And you still plan to come back?

Broe: Barring anything, if I get rid of this thing, hopefully maybe doing some road races this summer would be the ideal situation, and then kind of just get ready for the 2009 season.

And hopefully I won't have to look back on any of this crap. That would be the ideal situation.

I mean, really, if I can't get past this thing now, I don't think I'm ever going to. I'm going to run out of time.

T&FN: So what are you doing with yourself in the mean time?

Broe: I'm coaching at my old high school and really just running in the morning on my own. Sometimes I run with the kids. I'm doing a little lifting and really just wasting time [laughs]. It takes up a lot of time, this coaching thing—if you want to do it right, that is. It's probably 3 hours out of the day every day.

A charity out of Boston called In The Arena that sponsors athletes to work with kids in the community got a hold of me and we worked something out. So they pay me a bit of money, and I'm just doing that.

T&FN: Will you watch the Olympic Trials 5K?

Broe: Yeah, I'll probably watch it. I don't really have any vested interest in it but I'll probably watch out of curiosity.

T&FN: Did you watch the World Championships last year?

Broe: No, I didn't. When I'm not running, I'm completely removed from the track & field world—other than high school. I don't know what it is.

If I'm not playing, I'd rather do something else than watch, you know? It's like that with anything: basketball, football; I just don't watch many sports if I'm not the one doing it. Because if you sit and watch and think, "If I was in that race..."; it drives you crazy. But I'm sure I'll watch.

T&FN: So you don't have any strong feelings about Bernard Lagat winning the Worlds?

Broe: No, no. He's a tough competitor. I don't know why people allowed it to come down to that—allowed him to stay in the race to outkick them when he'd run so many races prior [during the meet], but I don't know.

T&FN: That is kind of hard to explain.

Broe: Yeah, people don't want to put their necks on the chopping block, really. It drives me crazy.
