

— Isinbayeva Raises The Bar Again —

by Phil Minshull

Rome, Italy, July 11—Just when Jenn Stuczynski and the rest of the world's top vaulters thought they might have a chance of usurping Yelena Isinbayeva, Russia's woman's answer to the legendary Sergey Bubka comes her final attempts nearly a half hour after all the other action in the stadium had come to an end.

However, being the sole focus of attention seemed to spur Isinbayeva on to greater heights. A soaring clearance at 16-2¾ (4.95) than 5.02. When Stuczynski jumped 4.90 then 4.92 it made me so angry because everyone started to say, 'Isinbayeva is finished; we have a new star.' It made me angry and I am happy for that feeling because I didn't feel it enough since my last World Record.

"What has also changed this winter is that I put even more effort in to training, I'm stronger now. I run faster, I jump higher and, psychologically, I feel more relaxed and happy. I will now compete in Stockholm, Monte Carlo and London before going to Japan to prepare for the Olympics."

In the July 22nd Stockholm affair, Isinbayeva will meet Stuczynski head to head.

At the halfway stage in the 2008 ÁF Golden League only two contenders, Kenyan 800 phenom Pamela Jelimo and Croatian high jumper Blanka Vlašić remain in the hunt for the $1 million jackpot.

Bershawn Jackson (400H), Hussein Al-Sabee (long jump) and Josephine Onyia (100H) fell by the wayside.

Jelimo once again made running 1:55 look easy when she hit the front just after the bell and quickly left the rest of the classy field trailing in her wake before winning in 1:55.69. Vlašić triumphed in her 32nd consecutive competition when she was the only woman to go clear at 6-6¾ (2.00).

Jeremy Wariner got revenge for his Trials 400 defeat, edging out LaShawn Merritt 44.36–44.37.

There were good wins for Kerron Clement in the 400 hurdles, defeating Jackson 48.23 to 48.34, and Allyson Felix took the 400 in 50.25.

Sanya Richards decided to drop down to the furlong but had to settle for 2nd despite a yearly best of 22.45, coming home behind Jamaica's Kerron Stewart (22.34).

However, fellow Jamaican Asafa Powell continues to have fitness issues. He burst out of the blocks in his 100 heat but pulled up 20 meters from the line, jogging across in 10.19.

He just made the final but the former WR holder decided not to run a second race. "He's OK, but he felt his groin cramp up and stopped running as a precaution," said his manager, Paul Doyle.

Isi skipped over 16-5¾, choosing 16-6 instead out and raises her own World Record to 16-6 (5.03).

Thanks to some bizarre scheduling from the meet organizers, Isinbayeva cleared her 22nd WR (12 outdoors and 10 indoors) at 11:16pm, long after many broadcasters had stopped transmission of the meet, but around 10,000 spectators stayed to watch her take on her second attempt, with her body about eight inches above the bar although she gently brushed it on the way down, was just the prelude before she went into new territory on her second attempt, almost three years after her last outdoor WR.

"After I jumped 4.95 tonight I really so good I felt like putting the bar at 5.03 rather
