

— Gay Is Back! 19.58 At Reebok GP —

by Rich Sands

Randalls Island, New York, May 30—He's baa-ack! Tyson Gay returned to the front lines of the sprint wars in a big way at the Reebok (19.98), one lane to his outside on the Icahn Stadium track.

Clear of the field on the homestretch, he continued to push hard all the way through the line. "I tried to run the turn really smooth and once I get on the straight-away I basically try to run for my life because you never know [who's coming], especially with guys who run the 400," he said. "I wanted to run through the finish line and see where my fitness was, what my breaking point was."

With a legal 1.3 mps wind at his back, Gay improved his claim to the No. 3 time ever, trailing only the Olympic final WR runs of Usain Bolt (19.30) and Michael Johnson (19.32) and erasing his previous best, 19.62, set at the '07 USATF Championships.

"It was a goal to run 19.5," the quiet Kentuckian said, but "it wasn't a goal to run it this early." Gay's only other races this spring were at 400 meters (topped by a 45.57 PR at the Texas Invitational on May 2) and the strength benefits were clear as he thundered down the homestretch.

Gay admitted to feeling "mentally drained," last summer after his Olympic Trials injury left him well off form in Beijing while The Usain Bolt Show was the main attraction at the Bird's Nest. "I felt I let a lot of people down," he said. "I just had to stay focused and try to redeem myself."

In a much more competitive race, Carmelita Jeter continued her hot season with a windy 10.85 victory in the women's 100. The '07 WC bronze medalist didn't take the lead over a tight field until the final five meters, leading four others under 11.00.

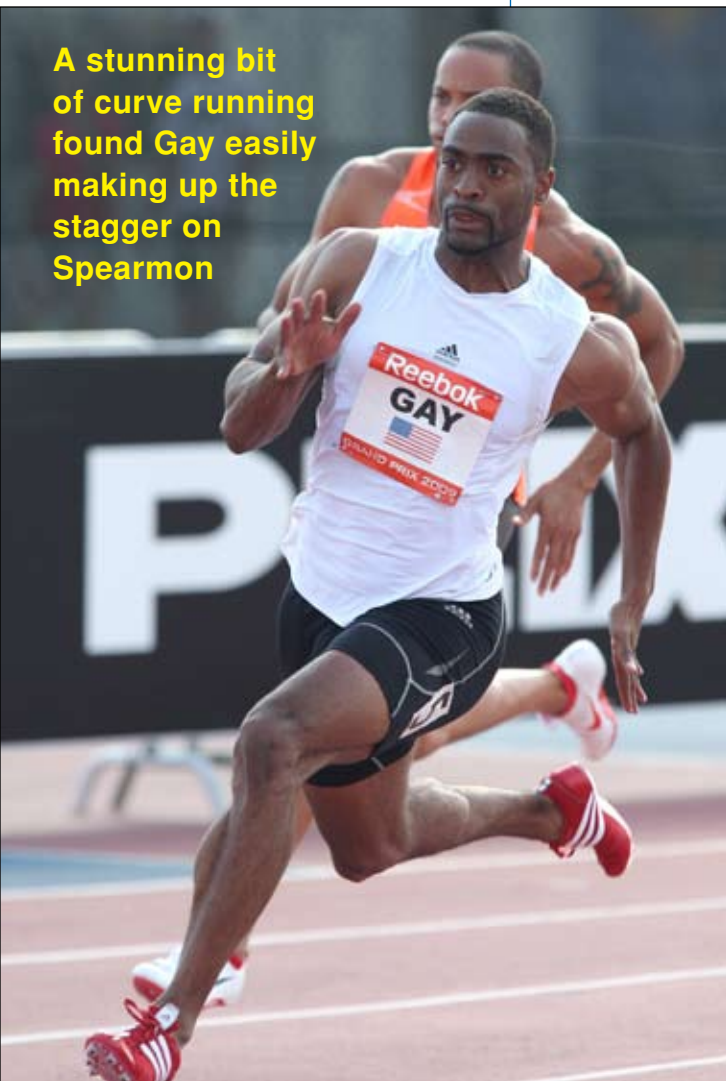

"Last year I was kinda lax and wasn't as aggressive as I was in '07 and I paid the price," she said of her failure to make the Olympic Trials final, "and it won't ever happen again."

The men's 100, certainly overshadowed by the 200, was remarkable for the surprising wind-aided 9.93 win for Mike Rodgers, whose résumé is padded with indoor credentials but is relatively thin outdoors.

Also noteworthy—for opposite reasons—was the lackluster 7th-place 10.10 for former WR holder Asafa Powell, much to the disappointment of his Jamaican countrymen, who heavily populated the crowd of 11,127.

The 5000s saw a pair of Kenyans upset their more celebrated rivals. In the women's race, Linet Masai, runner up at this year's world cross country championships, broke away from double Olympic gold medalist Tirunesh Dibaba just after 4K and kept extending her lead for a 14:35.39—14:40.93 win.

Later, Micah Kogo, bronze medalist in the Olympic 10,000, held off a final desperate spurt by world champ Bernard Lagat to win the men's race, 13:02.90—13:03.06.

Anna Willard (1:59.29) and Christin Wurth-Thomas (4:03.96) signaled outstanding fitness with world-leading PRs in the 800 and 1500.

Steeplechaser Willard came from way back to power past Jamaica's Kenia Sinclair in the final 50, while Wurth-Thomas broke free from the pack after two laps to crush the field

"We've been trying to train for August and September, so we don't know how I got fit so fast," Wurth-Thomas said. "But as long as we're watching it my coach and I are happy where we are."

There were only five field events, four of which were for women. In the pole vault, Jenn Stuczynski couldn't harness the big winds — or the magic from previous successes at this meet — well enough for an American Record 16-2 (4.93), but she won the competition easily at 15-9 ¼ (4.81).
