

— Eaton Scores Dec CR At Texas Relays —

by Lee Nichols

Austin, Texas; March 31–April 2—When Ashton Eaton roared out in the first three events, either improving or matching his best-ever marks, it became clear that his only serious opponent in his first-ever Texas Relays decathlon might be Mother Nature.

Sure enough, she eventually got him, negating a possible PR but not denying him victory over his human opponents with 8310 windy points, his highest total ever and No. 4 all-time by a collegian.

“Windy,” said the Oregon senior, asked to describe his experience in Meyers Stadium. To be precise, a 3.4mps wind pushed him to a 10.34 century and a 3.0 sent him to a 25-10½ (7.88) long jump.

That caused some consternation when it was realized that the IAAF’s new multi-event wind rules no longer call a mark record worthy if the aided events average over 2.0 so long as none are over 4.0.

So as the first day ended, with Eaton 94 points up on Trey Hardee’s pace in his CR of ’06, he’d need a headwind of at least 0.4 in the hurdles to get back to even.

The discussion was rendered moot, however, by a 4.9 at his tail over the barriers to start Day 2.

Eaton put a positive spin on it: “It’s good because I get different aspects,” he said. “I’ve never had a situation like this before. Its doesn’t really bother me that much that it didn’t count.”

Eaton possibly could have asked officials to run the hurdles against the wind, but he magnanimously said, “That would definitely have helped me, but for everyone else, I think it was beneficial to have the wind at their backs.”

(Stat note: it turns out that Hardee’s existing Collegiate Record would be illegal by the new IAAF rule. T&FN is taking the stance that the rule needs to be removed (and is confident that it will). So Hardee remains our CR holder, and we’ll continue to apply the old rule to the multis.)

With a recent World Indoor Record in the and a PR outdoors, is Eaton peaking too early as he goes for a third straight NCAA title?

“I’m right where I want to be,” he said. “As far as training goes, I don’t think there’s any way I can really be happy right now, just because we’ve been having typical practices. I was happy with the long jump, mostly the speed and jumping events. I was disappointed with the pole vault. Usually I do about 16, but I did only 15-1 [4.60]. It’s tricky navigating that pole [in the wind].”

Fellow NCAA champ/teammate Brianna Theisen also had a solid win, a wind-aided 5942. “It was good,” she said.

“My first day I was really happy with. My second day not so much. I wasn’t expecting a really big second day because my first heptathlon is always a bit of a struggle on the second day, because it’s long and I’m not in the best of shape yet.

If the duo’s scores have Oregon head Vin Lananna with visions of national championships in his head, Texas A&M’s Pat Henry got plenty of fuel for visions of his own: His male and female Aggies won the outstanding college team award by combining for a dominating 9 victories, including the fastest college women’s 4x1 ever in the month of April (42.56).

“We had a day that we can remember for a while at Texas A&M,” Henry said. “Anytime you come in here and win four relays, with two meet records, and total nine wins on the final day it makes for a very special day. This was a fine, fine meet for this team.”

Eaton’s 8310w made him the No. 4 collegian ever
