College Station, Texas, March 11–12—Oregon had one of those rare meets when almost everything seemed to go right. The Ducks won with 67 points, a score bettered only once in the meet's 28-year history. It gave them a repeat of last year's win.

Projected as favorites on the T&FN formchart by fewer than 10 points over Arkansas and Texas—with Texas A&M and LSU in the hunt—Oregon suffered a setback before the meet even began when Alex Kosinski, figured to score low points in both the 3000 and 5000, was scratched. A much tighter battle was suddenly projected.

But then the meet started.

Brianne Theisen took the heptathlon lead during the second event with a PR 6-½ (1.84) high jump clearance. By the end, the Duck senior had successfully defended her title.

The 10 team points was as expected, less so the 4540 points for a Collegiate Record. Certainly Theisen was hesitant about a record, as she said, "For the past couple of weeks I've been having this weird thing with my back. And I've just been kind of managing it and keeping the inflammation down."

The running events started with the mile qualifying, and all three of Vin Lananna's runners—Jordan Hasay, Anne Kesselring and Zoe Buckman—advancing. And when Amber Purvis qualified for both sprint finals and that evening picked up 2 points in the 200 final, Oregon was on a roll.

to 3rd with her final round 20-11¼ (6.39), trailing only Tori Bowie's PR 21-4¾ (6.52) and the 21-0 (6.40) for defending champ Kim Williams.

The big event of the evening was the distance medley with Oregon doubling back Hasay and Kesselring. A year ago, Hasay had lost a final stretch sprint to Ten-

Hasay scored a distance double for the Ducks and almost added a third

Oregon's one traumatic event of the day was the long jump. Jamesha Youngblood barely made it to the final three jumps with a third-round comethrough, and improved nessee's Phoebe Wright.

Given the baton with a slim lead over Villanova here, Hasay tried to discourage her followers with an opening 67. But when she backed off the pace slightly, the door was open as several teams crept back and formed a pack behind her.

In the third quarter Hasay began to open the gap on all but Villanova's Sheila Reid, the reigning national cross country champion. In a stirring last lap, Hasay held off Reid on the last backstretch and turn, but succumbed in the home straight, losing to Reid's 4:29.91 as Villanova ran the second-fastest time ever, 10:52.52, with Oregon at 10:52.90.

Hasay left the track upset, but Oregon had 26 points and strong possibilities for Saturday.

The Eugene crew virtually locked up the team title with the first event of the day, the mile. With the three Ducks controlling the race, only Duke's Kate Van Buskirk broke up the trio. Hasay won with a 4:33.01 PR, with Buckman and Kesselring finishing 3rd and 4th.

Immediately following the mile came the hurdles, and Texas A&M's chances ended when Gabby Mayo nicked a hurdle and couldn't finish. Teammate Jessica Beard wowed the hometowners with a blazing 50.79 world leader in the 400.

Oregon clinched the title during the dash as the pole vault was reaching its final stages with Melissa Gergel still alive and Purvis finishing 5th in the dash behind the CR-equaling 7.09 for South Carolina's Kya Brookins.

Gergel took 4th in the vault, with Tina Šutej of Arkansas the winner at 14-7¼ (4.45), having missed three tries at a CR 14-11 (4.55).

The day ended with Hasay as the star of the meet. With the title clinched, her points were unnecessary in the 3000, but she avenged her DMR defeat with a 9:13.71 to Reid's 9:13.86.

Concerned primarily about the team battle, Hasay recounted, "Today I was just bummed about last night and just wanted to come out today and score points."
