

— The Diamond League Kicks Off —

by Roy Conrad

Doha, Qatar, May 6—Allyson Felix, last season’s double Diamond League champion in the women’s 200 and 400, picked up where she left off at this year’s first DL stop in Doha with a win over the full lap.

The 25-year-old Southern Californian surged to a lead in the first 200 and then flowed home just ahead of a determined challenge over the home straight from Amantle Montsho. Felix held off Montsho, Botswana’s Commonwealth Games champ, 50.33–50.41.

“Happy with my race today,” Felix tweeted shortly afterwards. “I ran 50.33 for my 9th win here in Doha!”

The tally, if you’re keeping score, is a pair of 200 wins ’05–’06, 100/400 doubles in 2007–08, and now three straight years of 400 victories.

Felix said in the Qatari capital that a World Champs 2/4 double is “definitely something that I’m considering. It’s definitely a big toll on your body.

“My training is progressing so we’re just evaluating to see if it’s something that my body can handle. It’s a decision that I’m going to make a little later in the year.”

Although Felix is scheduled to meet rival Sanya Richards-Ross twice in a double at the Rome Golden League at the end of the month, DL doubling will take a backseat this summer.

“[Doubling on the circuit is] definitely not my focus,” Felix said. “I’m running less this year. I’m not running as many of the 200s and 400s together. My focus is definitely on Worlds this year.”

Walter Dix—who would have been the ’10 men’s 200 DL titlist had he been not had to end his season early due to injury—won the half-lap in 20.06 in his first-ever appearance in Doha.

The Florida State alum raced clear of the field on the curve with Norway’s Jaysuma Saidy Ndure closest as they entered the straight. But the Norwegian faded in the final 50 as Femi Ogunode, a 19-year-old former Nigerian, closed fast for 2nd in a Qatari NR, 20.30.

The women’s 100 hurdles, in which Americans took the top 7 places was won in a world-leading 12.58 by Kellie Wells, who was earlier this year the revelation of the indoor season.

After Ginnie Crawford started best with an early lead over Lolo Jones, Wells drew even at the seventh hurdle and clear after the ninth to equal her PR. Danielle Carruthers finished strong as well to take 2nd over Jones—who reported still feeling the sciatica that cut short her indoor season—12.64–12.67.

Though the pro season is still young, the men’s 3000, won by Yewew Alamirew, had the crackling, fast flavor of a mid-summer race. The 20-year-old Ethiopian produced a burst with 200 left that was so decisive he could afford the luxury of easing up at the line to his 7:27.26 clocking ahead of Edwin Soi (7:27.55), Eliud Kipchoge (7:27.66) and Augustine Choge (7:28.76).

The first seven finishers scored PRs, all running under 7:32.

Canada’s Dylan Armstrong took a heavy-hitting men’s shot, spinning the ball out to 70-1¼ (21.38) on his fourth and final attempt to slip past Reese Hoffa, whose 69-9½ (21.27) had led from Ryan Whiting 69-8/21.23 since round 2.
