— David Rudisha Repeats As Men's AOY —

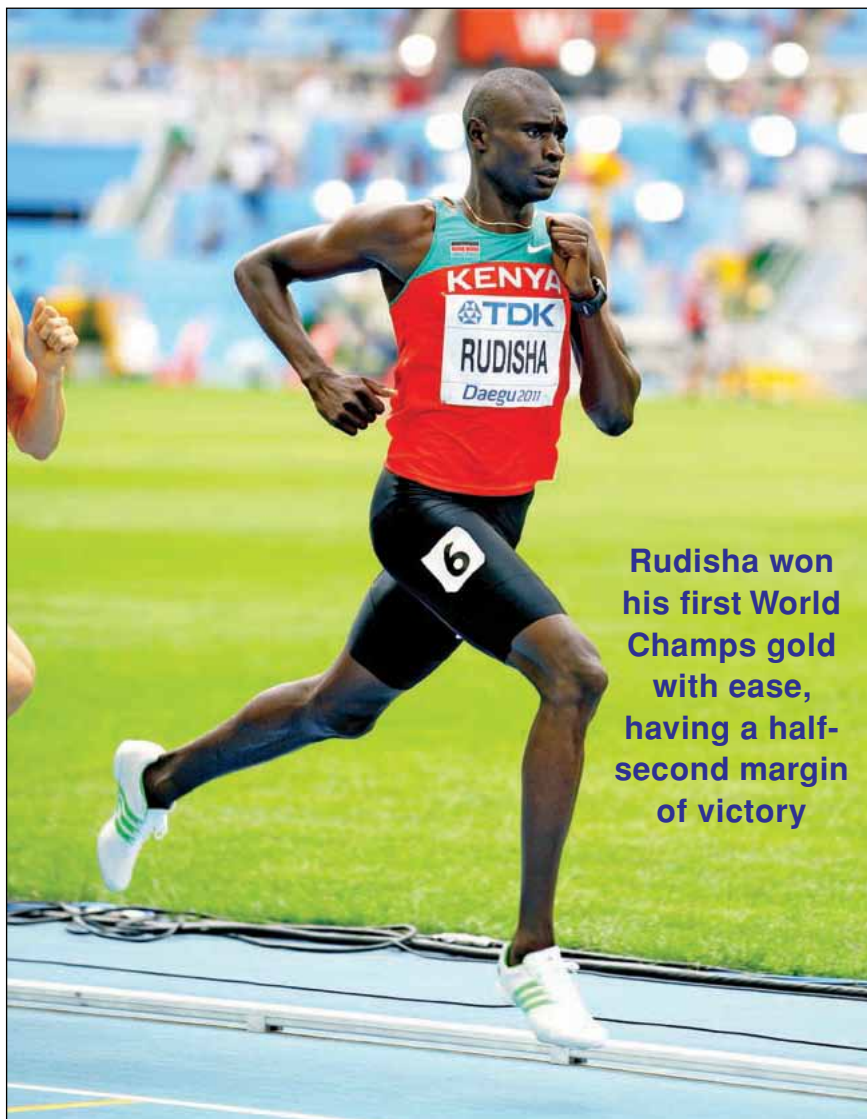

It would have been tough for David Rudisha to live up to the standards he set in '10, when he went undefeated and twice lowered the World Record in the 800. That led to one of the rare perfect-score wins in Athlete Of The Year voting history.

This year the 23-year-old Kenyan didn't set any WRs and even lost a race. But he nonetheless repeated as the men's AOY.

Rudisha's share of the points pie was the lowest in many years as no fewer than 6 athletes received mention as a No. 1 from our 33-member international voting panel.

— Cheruiyot Double Claims Women's AOY Title —

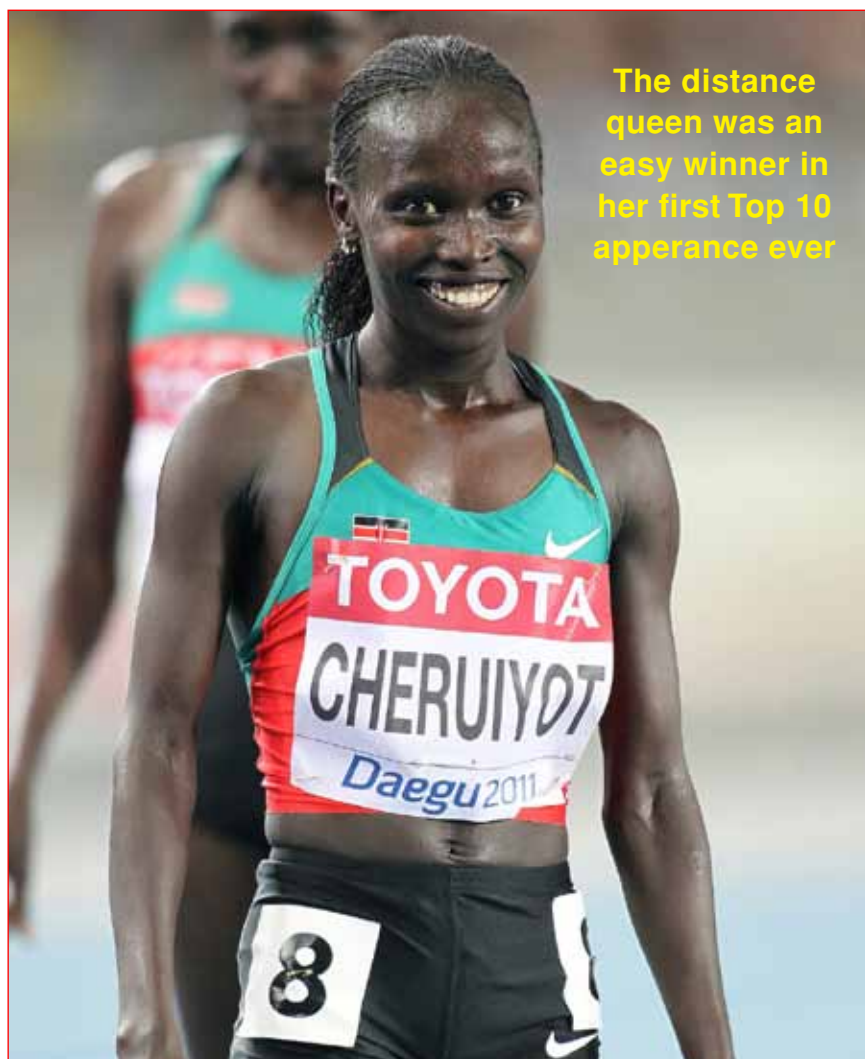

Kenya scored double wins in our AOY voting, and the second half came on double World Champs golds by Vivian Cheruiyot, the 5000/10,000 winner in Daegu.

In becoming the first Kenyan woman ever to win (and only the fifth ever even to make the top 10), Cheruiyot was a convincing No. 1, earning 21 of the 33 first-place ballots cast by our 33-member international panel.

Cheruiyot had an undefeated season: runner-up Sally Pearson was within three hurdles of doing the same and Valerie Adams was also without a blemish. Pearson (8) and Adams (4) claimed the other votes for No. 1.
