* Review of the movies of the finish of the race shows the judges placed each runner into the chute in proper order of finish. At the exit end of the chute, however, North Carolina's second man, who actually finished in 101st position, was not recorded on the finish tally sheet and, consequently, was not posted on the score board at the conclusion of the race, resulting in an incorrect initial reporting of their team score. North Carolina's corrected team score is improved by twenty-five points, enabling them to displace West Virginia in twentieth team position.
