

2008

Eugene – June 27 to July 6

After a gap of 28 years, Eugene joined Los Angeles as the only venues to have hosted the Trials on 4 occasions. The weather was kind to the Trials, with temperatures reaching 95o for the quarter-finals of the Men's 100 meters; the average high for the 8 days of competition was 81o with the first half of the meeting appreciably hotter than the last 4 days. The crowd totaled 167,123 with a Hayward Field record of 21,176 on the final day, though the attendance figures included the people seated behind the main stand watching the big screen assembled as part of the entertainment festivities for the crowd. The number of thin fields implied that the meet could be cut by one or two days; the results of the team in the Olympics, particularly the men's field events, suggested that the Trials should be moved much closer to the Games – perhaps 1 month, in order to help the team manage peaking for the Games.

Tyson Gay was the big news in both of the initial two rounds of the 100 meters, but for very different reasons. In his heat, after establishing a big lead, Gay shut down, mistaking the line marked for the start of Mile races for the finishing line. He recovered just in time and finished in 10.14 – he could have finished a tenth slower and still made the next round, but it was a shot of adrenalin for the World Champion. At just after 5pm Gay shot through 50m in 5.56 and went on to record a US record 9.77. Behind him, surprising Jeff Demps ran 10.01 to set a High School record and equal the world junior 100 record. Just behind was Walter Dix, who had recorded 9.96 in the first round, equaling Carl Lewis's "first round record" from the '88 Trials. 6 men ran 10.07 in that heat, and the feast continued, with Travis Padgett running the fastest ever by a collegian (9.89) in the second heat establishing a big lead over the first 50m, and he was closely followed by Rod Martin (9.95) and Mark Jelks (9.99) under the 10 second barrier. Darvis Patton (9.89) caught Ivory Williams (9.94) at the 90m point in the final heat. Each race saw a wind reading of +1.6, which was less suspicious than it looked, due to a steady gentle breeze, and this together with very hot sunny weather combined to produce perfect conditions. Indeed, this was biggest festival of 100m sprint speed in a national championship since the legendary AAU of 1968, which also enjoyed warm weather and aiding breezes.

The average time for the 24 competitors was 10.056 !

The following day saw the temperature down by 10o, with more blustery conditions. Gay won the first semi-final, beating Dix by almost a meter, with Martin just edging Carter and Ivory Williams for 4th. Carter only caught Williams in the last 5 meters, gaining a 1/1000th advantage (10.086 to 10.087). The wind died down in the second race for Patton's 10.04 win, DP having edged past Padgett at the 80m mark. The margins in 3rd and 4th copied the first semi, as Dixon ran 10.17 to take 3rd ahead of Rodgers' 10.178 and Spearmon's 10.179.

Compact (5'8/180) Travis Padgett was the quickest in the early stages of the final, with Gay catching him after 30 meters. The US record holder quickly moved away from the rest of the field and eventually won by almost 1 ½ meters. Behind him, Dix surged from 6th to 3rd between 40m and 80m, and Patton just edged Padgett at the line.

Five heats eliminated just 2 athletes, and with just 26 starters, one of the rounds should have been cancelled. 2004 Olympic champion Crawford looked the sharpest through the early rounds, clocking 20.18 and then 20.33. The favorite, Tyson Gay looked easy in a 20.43 heat, but the whole tenor of the event changed when Gay pulled up with a hamstring injury 50m into his quarter-final, leaving the crowd visibly shocked. Dix and Martin led through the first 100 of the first semi-final, reaching halfway in 10.3, with Spearmon a metre back. Spearmon quickly joined the other two, and the trio went 4 meters clear of the field, with Martin pushing slightly harder than the other two, to ensure a good lane draw for the final. The wind switched direction for the second semi-final, and Crawford dominated the race, passing 100 in 10.2 with a lead of 3 meters, which he extended to nearly six, before easing down over the last 20 meters.

Crawford and Martin got out quickest in the final, with Spearmon looking very sluggish over the first 30 meters. Crawford began to draw away in the second half of the curve, and was 2 meters clear at halfway, with Dix and Martin level. And Spearmon now a meter further back. Dix began to gradually make up the margin on Crawford, while Martin (at 160m) began to lose form. Spearmon caught Martin with 20m to go, but it was not until the last 5 meters that Dix got on terms with Crawford, and the Floridan just got ahead on the dip. Martin had the misfortune of running sub-10 in the 100 and under 20 in the 200, without making the team in either event.

Coming in to the 2008 season Wariner was a hot favorite to win the OT/OG double again. Things changed slightly a month earlier when LaShawn Merritt edged Wariner in Berlin 44.03 to 44.07. It was thought by the majority of the sport's observers that Wariner would raise his game when the serious races were reached. Merritt (45.30) and Wariner (46.04 easing up) duly won their heats in a field which saw just 26 finishers in the first round. Williamson and Larry were expected to battle out the first semi-final, and at 200m they were level, but 2 yards behind Witherspoon. Larry faded in the last 50m but Witherspoon showed good form all the way to the finish, and ran his first sub-45 clocking ahead of Williamson and Calvin Smith [a more powerful looking athlete than Calvin S]. Merritt led by 2m at 250 in the other semi-final, which was when Wariner showed his power and he gained 5 metres in less than 100, and won easing down. The same pattern seemed to follow in the final, with Merritt heading Wariner at 200, though both men were behind David Neville. Neville continued to lead at 300m, but Merritt caught him shortly after. Wariner could make no inroads on Merritt this time, and for the second time in a row Merritt beat Wariner, which he would more easily in the Olympic final. Neville held on to 3rd easily from Witherspoon.

The 3 runners thought likely to make the team were veteran Khadevis Robinson, local boy Nik Symmonds, and Sudanese born Lopez Lomong. While Lomong was impressive in the first heat, Robinson ran a poor tactical race, and was seemingly run out of contention in 6th place, though he made it to the semi as a fastest loser. The solid (178/75) Symmonds won a slow second heat, and local boy Wheating won the final heat from Christian Smith, which pleased the local crowd. Robinson demanded more of himself in the semis, leading from the gun, passing 400 in 51.98, with a 2 yard lead over 2004 winner Johnson, which he held to the finish, keeping Wheating at bay by a meter, with Johnson and Harris less than a yard behind. Matt Scherer, another local thought to be in the running for the team, failed to keep in touch in the final stages. In the second semi-final, Symmonds followed the pace of Duane Solomon, and kicked past in the home straight to win in 1:45.61. Losing out was NCAA winner Jacob Hernandez.

Crowd enthusiasm was its highest for the 800, with 3 Eugene based athletes among the finalists. Robinson went to the front, and though the pace was quick, all finalists stayed in contact, with 8th placed Wheating only 5 meters behind Robinson (50.34) at halfway. Robinson stayed in front through 600, reached in 1:17.30, with a similar margin stretching back to the 8th placed Wheating (1:17.82). With 150m to go Symmonds made a move from 6th place, and caught Robinson at 700m. With 80m to go Symmonds was clear, and he went away to win by 7 meters. Wheating had moved up on the outside on the final bend, and with 50m was a clear second, though could have challenged for the lead with better tactical positioning. For the crowd it didn't matter – as all 3 of the Oregon/Oregon Track Club runners made the team, Smith qualifying by crossing the line almost horizontally in a desperate dive to beat both Robinson and Lomong. “Track and Field News” summed up the relationship between the crowd and the 800 meter Olympians – “The trio that deafened Eugene”.

- 2/ 1. Jennings 3:40.07, 2. Lomong 3:40.26, 3. Manzano 3:40.32, 4. Lukezic 3:40.50, 5. Rankin 3:40.81, 6. Ahmed 3:41.05, 7. Stephen Pifer (Col) 3:41.78, 8. Andrew Bumbalough (Gtn) 3:42.45, 9. John Jefferson (Or TC) 3:44.79, 10. Matt DeBole (Gtn) 3:45.20, 11. Russell Brown (Stan) 3:46.89, 12. Kyle King (ZAP) 3:50.58, 13. James Hatch (Unat) 3:57.25

Heats - first 5 + 4 fastest losers qualify, July 3, 20.25-20.45 Hr

- 1/ 1. Jennings 3:44.39, 2. Shere 3:44.71, 3. Myers 3:44.81, 4. Rankin 3:44.91, 5. Bumbalough 3:45.49, 6. Hatch 3:45.55, 7. Dave Torrence (Cal) 3:45.89, 8. Sam Burley (Asics) 3:46.30, 9. Brendan O'Keene (ZAP) 3:46.84, 10. Jordan McNamara (Or) 3:49.61
- 2/ 1. Lomong 3:43.38, 2. Manzano 3:43.41, 3. Brown 3:43.79, 4. Leer 3:43.79, 5. Pifer 3:44.05, 6. See 3:44.06, 7. Krummenacker 3:45.07, 8. McClary 3:45.40, 9. King 3:45.63, 10. Acosta 4:07.81
- 3/ 1. Webb 3:41.27, 2. Ahmed 3:41.92, 3. Lukezic 3:42.10, 4. Lagat 3:42.11, 5. Robison 3:42.12, 6. Bolas 3:42.16, 7. Jefferson 3:42.48, 8. Stroup 3:43.02, 9. Matt DeBole (Gtn) 3:43.32, 10. Garrett Heath (Stan) 3:43.90

World champion Lagat was hot favorite to win, while 2004 Webb – potentially the race winner, was short of race fitness. Webb was the fastest man of the first round, winning the final heat in 3:41.27, but looked to be short of his best form. The semis were tactical affairs, with Lagat cruising to a 3:43.83 win over Myers (3:43.98) after a final 200 in 26.40. Webb qualified in 5th not looking his best. The other semi-final was won by 2000 OT winner Jennings, who looked impressive in heading Lomong 3:40.07 to 3:40.26, courtesy of a 26.9 last 200. Jennings, who had lost interest in the sport in 2003, taking time off to cycle from the US to Brazil, took out the pace in the final, but laps of 61.58, 59.28 and 59.39 ensured that the field stayed bunched. Ahmed pushed his way past Lagat with 450m to go and edged into the lead at the bell, with Manzano, Lomong and Webb poised to sprint. Lagat went into the lead with 200m to go, with Manzano and Lomong a meter back. Lagat went away to win by 4 meters from Manzano and Lomong, with Webb beaten for speed in the last 50m. Leer, who had lagged at the back of the field for most of the race, came up sharply in the finishing straight to edge Webb for 4th.

3000 Meters Steeplechase - July 5, 14:45 Hr

1. Antony Famiglietti (adidas)	8:20.24
--------------------------------	---------

2. Billy Nelson (Col)	8:21.47
3. Josh McAdams (New Bal)	8:21.99
4. Jacob Morse (Tex)	8:34.48
5. Dan Huling (Reeb)	8:35.30
6. Michael Spence (IBR)	8:35.48
7. Brian Olinger (Reeb)	8:36.09
8. Jordan Desilets (Unat)	8:38.84

9. Jacques Sallberg (RWU) 8:40.49, 10. Carey Nowitzke (Unat) 8:47.10, 11. Kyle Alcorn (Az St) 8:47.30, 12. Ben Bruce (Unat) 8:52.40.
Dnf – Steve Slattery (Nik) and Andy Smith (Reeb)

Heats - first 4 plus 6 fastest losers qualify, July 3, 21.10-21.30 Hr

1/ 1. Famiglietti 8:25.17, 2. Nelson 8:26.17, 3. McAdams 8:26.47, 4. Nowitzke 8:27.78, 5. Huling 8:28.88, 6. Slattery 8:30.49, 7. Morse 8:34.08, 8. Smith 8:35.67, 9. Kyle Heath (Syr) 8:39.51, 10. Kevin Davis (Unat) 8:52.50, 11. Luke Watson (adi) 8:56.16, 12. Jordan Fife (Tln) 9:00.59

2/ 1. Bruce 8:32.57, 2. Alcorn 8:32.70, 3. Desilets 8:34.74, 4. Sallberg 8:34.84, 5. Spence 8:34.84, 6. Olinger 8:35.89, 7. Thomas Brooks (Or TC) 8:38.63, 8. Max King (Or TC) 8:38.86, 9. Lyle Weese (Unat) 8:41.78, 10. Lucas Meyer (Or TC) 8:46.53, 11. Jonathan Pierce (Zap) 9:00.88

The first heat saw 5 run under 8:30 in the first heat, led by Famiglietti, and thanks to his pace setting 4 of the 6 fastest losers came from this heat. As in 2004, Famiglietti went straight to the front in the final, and never surrendered the lead. Brian Olinger led the chasing pack for the first 2 kilometers, and then Nelson and McAdams went past, and opened up a team deciding gap. Famiglietti, whose pace had drifted from 64.9 down to 67s in the latter part of the race, speeded up in the last lap, and got home 10 meters clear from the diminutive (5'6") Nelson, who cracked his PR for the third race in a row, achieving an Olympic qualifying standard with his 8:21.47 ahead of McAdams, as the three finished in the same order as they had in the heats. Famiglietti went on to a PR (8:17.34) in the Olympic heats.

5000 Meters – June 30, 21.40 Hr

1. Bernard Lagat (Nik)	13:27.47
2. Matt Tegenkamp (Nik)	13:29.68
3. Ian Dobson (adi)	13:29.76
3. Bolota Asmeron (Or TC)	13:31.24
5. Chris Solinsky (Nik)	13:32.17
6. Bobby Curtis (Reeb)	13:35.00
7. Stephen Pifer (Col)	13:37.46
8. Matt Gabrielson (Reeb)	13:38.06

9. Brent Vaughn (Nik) 13:39.15, 10. Thomas Morgan (ZAP) 13:47.76, 11. Kyle King (ZAP) 13:51.03, 12. Ryan Vail (Ok St) 13:54.77, 13. Jonathon Riley (Nik) 13:58.58. Dnf – Adam Goucher (Nik). Dns – Josh Rohatinsky (Nik) and Galen Rupp (Unat).

Heats - first 6 plus 4 fastest losers qualify, June 27, 20:45- 21:15 Hr

1/ 1. Tegenkamp 13:54.62, 2. Riley 13:54.69, 3. Lagat 13:54.93, 4. Pifer 13:55.10, 5. Goucher 13:56.25, 6. Rohatinsky 13:56.94, 7. Morgan 13:57.28, 8. Gabrielson 14:00.92, 9. Ryan Vail (Unat) 14:05.26, 10. Vaughn 14:06.90, 11. Hassan Mead (Mn) 14:07.44, 12. Andrew Carlson (TMn) 14:13.78

2/ 1. Rupp 13:59.14, 2. Solinsky 13:59.65, 3. Curtis 14:00.00, 4. Asmeron 14:00.48, 5. Dobson 14:01.42, 6. King 14:04.82, 7. Ryan Bak (Or TC) 14:07.42, 8. Anthony Gallo (RFI) 14:12.54, 9. James Strang (Ark) 14:12.68, 1. Ryan Kirkpatrick (Reeb) 14:29.66, 11. Rod Koborski (Reeb) 14:30.41. Dnf – Patrick Tarpay (Reeb)

Lगत, the world champion, and Tegenkamp, 4th in the '07 worlds, were considered pretty solid bets for the team. Following sensibly paced heats in the heat of Day 1, which saw Tegenkamp and Rupp get wins, the final saw just a couple of attempts to unhinge the favorites. Brent Vaughn took a 20+ meter lead in the second lap, and Adam Goucher, without an Olympic "A" standard time, took the lead towards the end of the third kilometer, but dropped out after surrendering the lead when it was clear that the pace was not quick enough. With a kilometer to go Chris Solinsky kicked in a 58.93 lap, and the following (12th) circuit in 59.73. Lagat then took the lead, and Tegenkamp and Dobson went by the sagging Solinsky with 100m remaining. Both Lagat and Tegenkamp would make the Olympic final, but the success of 2007 didn't follow them in Olympic year, as they placed 9th and 13th respectively in Beijing.

10000 Meters - July 4, 21.20 Hr

1. Abdirahman Abdi (Nik)	27:41.89	13:50.70/13:51.19
2. Galen Rupp (Unat)	27:43.11	13:52.18/13:50.93

4. Ed Moran (Nik)	27:52.10	13:52.67/13:59.43

5. Josh Rohatinsky (Nik)	27:54.41	13:52.87/14:01.54
6. James Carney (NBal)	27:58.81	13:54.86/14:03.95
7. Adam Goucher (Nik)	27:59.31	13:54.16/14:05.15
8. Dathan Ritzenhein (Nik)	28:05.31	13:53.42/14:11.89

9. Sean Quigley (Pum) 28:21.96, 10. Tim Nelson (Nik) 28:29.95, 11. Ed Torres (Reeb) 28:35.91, 12. Meb Keflezighi (Nik) 28:39.02, 14. Dan Browne (Nik) 28:42.78, 15. Fasil Bizuneh (NBal) 28:43.11, 16. Scott Bauhs (Chico) 28:54.32, 17. Brett Gotcher (McME) 28:54.89, 18. Matt Downin (NBal) 28:55.66, 19. Seth Pilkington (Web) 29:10.33, 20. Michael Kilburg (Port) 29:26.76, 21. John Moore (Port) 29:26.79, 22. Steve Sundell (NYAC) 29:35.86, 23. Louis Luchini (Or TC) 29:42.78, 24. Stephen Haas (Tln) 29:57.45, 25. Seth Summerside (adi) 30:52.33

Having run 27:16.99 at the Prefontaine Memorial 3 weeks earlier, Abdi was a prohibitive favorite, and set out from the gun to show how accurate a view this was. After two slow laps, the next 18 hovered between 64.6 and 67.3. Abdi passed halfway in 13:50.7, with 11 within 20 meters, and defending champion Keflezighi (13:55.4) beginning to slide away. After another 1000 meters only Torres and Rupp were in touch with Abdi. Abdi stayed in front until the last kilo, when Rupp had the temerity to take the lead, much to the delight of the mainly Oregon-based crowd. Abdi retook the lead with just over a lap to go and won by 10 metres, with most of it coming in the last 100m (14.9). In Beijing Rupp was the best of the Americans, placing 13th in a more than respectable 27:36.99.

20 Kilometer Walk – July 5, 07.00 Hr

1. Kevin Eastler (USAF)	1:27:08
2. Matthew Boyles (Unat)	1:28:20
3. Patrick Stroupe (Unat)	1:29:17
4. John Nunn (US Army)	1:30:35
5. Tim Seaman (NYAC)	1:31:35
6. Allen James (Bond LAC)	1:32:13
7. Ben Shorey (WiP)	1:33:16
8. Philip Dunn (NBal)	1:33:52

9. Charles Collier (AE) 1:35:00, 10. Stephen Quirke (Park AC) 1:35:45, 11. Michael Tarantino (WCW) 1:38:02, 12. Jared Swehosky (Unat) 1:39:14, 13. Theron Kissinger (NBal) 1:40:34. Chris Tegtmeier (Col) – dq (6th)

Eastler and Seaman were the only men to have bettered the Olympic “B” standard of 1:24:30, and the 1km lap course was unlikely to yield fast times. Eastler took control after an early and short-lived break by Nunn. Eastler then broke clear and won unchallenged to claim the only team spot for Beijing. Matt Boyles ended up with the unenviable stat of finishing 2nd in two OT races in one year, but making the Olympic Games in neither event.

50 Kilometer Walk – Crandon Park, FL - February 9, 7.15 Hr

8. John Souchek (Shore)	5:10:22

9. Mark Green (Unat) 5:13:22, 10. Curt Clausen (NYAC) 5:17:50. Dave McGovern (NBal), Tim Seaman (NYAC) & Kevin Eastler (USAF) – Dnf, Yaniv Pomeranz (Unat) - DQ

Not many US athletes qualify for an Olympic Games in Russia, but that’s what Philip Dunn did in 2008. The Trials race took place in warm conditions, with the temperature lifting from 72o at the start to 82o at the finish. Held over 25 laps, the duo of Dunn and Boyles were clear of the rest by 10k. The two men stayed together until 38k, when Dunn began to pull away. The warm conditions prevented Dunn from ducking under the 4:07 required for the Olympic “B” standard, so he tried again – this time at the World Cup in Cheboksary, and clocked 4:05:10 to make the team for the third time.

Marathon – New York – November 3, 2007 , 07.30 Hr

1. Ryan Hall (Asics)	2:09:02
2. Dathan Ritzenhein (Nik)	2:11:07
3. Brian Sell (HBDP)	2:11:40
4. Khalid Khannouchi (NBal)	2:12:34
5. Jason Lehmkuhle (Team USA)	2:12:54
6. Dan Browne (Nik)	2:13:23

7. Nathaniel Jenkins (Saucony)	2:14:56
8. Meb Keflezighi (Nik)	2:15:09

9. Josh Rohatinsky (Nik) 2:15:22, 10. Jason Hartman (Nik) 2:15:27, 11. Matt Gonzales (Nik) 2:16:14, 12. Mike Morgan (HBDP) 2:16:28, 13. Fazil Bizuneh (NBal) 2:16:47, 14. Chad Johnson (Hans) 2:17:58

104 finished, 134 started

The race was a triumph for Ryan Hall, but was overshadowed by a wrenchingly sad drama. Ryan Shay, a 28 year old graduate of Notre Dame and US champion over 25k, had run 2:14:58 to qualify, and was in the leading pack at 5 miles, when he suddenly collapsed. He was taken to hospital but pronounced dead at 8.46 am. Unaware of this tragedy, the runners continued, passing 10k in a bunch in 32:26, before Keflezighi, Hall, Dan Browne and Ritzebhein broke clear, taking an 18 second lead over Khannouchi (47:22) by 15k.. The four stayed together through halfway (1:06:17). Hall applied pressure after 25k, running his next 5k in 14:48 to establish a 27 second lead over Ritzenhein, with Browne and Keflezighi losing ground another 12 seconds back. Behind them Khannouchi (1:03 behind Hall) had been joined by Brian Sell. Hall continued to up the pace, with the next 5k covered in 14:28. Sell, who had gone out too quickly in 2004, began to reap rewards from his caution, moving past Browne into third at 36k. Hall continued to extend his lead and won by 2:05 from Ritzenhein, with Sell a solid third, nearly a minute ahead of Khannouchi. The official results showed 104 finishers, a Dnf against the next 29 (non-finishers), and poignantly no designation next to the last name, Ryan Shay.

David Oliver ran 12.95 in May, and then beat Cuba's Dayron Robles in Berlin in June to establish himself as OT favorite. Oliver (13.24w) and Anawar Moore (13.28w) were the most impressive heat winners, and Oliver improved in the second round to 13.07, with Moore (13.17) again the next quickest heat winner. Allen Johnson, in his 5th Trials failed to finish his heat, while Linnie Yarbrough ran 13.65 in his quarter-final but found it was n't quick enough to make the semis. Oliver, with an impressive 12.89w, and Trammell (13.08) were the semi-final winners, and looked like Olympic team members. Antwon Hicks, who'd beaten Trammell in round one with 13.36, improved to 13.28w and then to a lifetime best of 13.09, looked like the best of the rest, though Payne (13.06w) and Moore (13.15) were clearly on good form as well.

The field was off in the final at the second attempt, after Brunson created the almost obligatory false start (as he had in the earlier rounds), and Trammell was the leader at the first hurdle, with Oliver second to rise, just ahead of Payne and Moore. By the 4th hurdle, Moore was level with Oliver, still chasing Trammell. The two-time Olympic silver medalist clipped the 6th hurdle, and Oliver began to close in, catching Trammell at the 8th barrier. By the final hurdle, the linebacker shouldered Oliver was a foot ahead of Trammell, with Moore 3rd a meter back, but a meter clear of Payne. Oliver powered his way across the line a half meter clear of Trammell, but Moore lost his balance touching down off the hurdle, and fell two strides later, leaving Payne with the third spot. Oliver averaged a brilliant 13.04 through the 4 rounds. Payne, a fighter who had run in the 2007 World's on 2 days notice and won a bronze medal, did one better this time, edging Oliver for the silver medal behind Robles in Beijing, while Trammell – injured - failed to finish his Olympic heat.

Eugene is not often kind to 400 hurdlers, and the back stretch headwinds emphasized the point, as no-one broke 48 throughout the event. Jeshua Anderson, Washington State's freshman NCAA champion, was fastest in the first round with 49.05, just ahead of World champion Clement (49.13) and 2000 OG winner Taylor (49.34), but the young football star was eliminated in the first semi-final, which saw Clement run an easy looking 48.20 ahead of Reuben McCoy's PR 48.37. Taylor returning from a period of specializing over the flat 400, did just enough to qualify. The second semi was won by Jackson, who eased off in the back straight, before pushing hard as he came off the final curve. LaRon Bennett beat Robert Griffin, another football player, for the final qualifying spot, as injured Olympian James Carter placed 6th.

Jackson got out quickly in the final, but eased back as he went into the back straight, and Brandon Johnson led the field through halfway, with Clement and Taylor a meter behind, and only Bennett out of touch. Johnson, like Jackson, a relatively short hurdler [5'9" to Jackson's 5'7"] was still just holding the lead as they came off the curve at the 8th hurdle. Jackson took the lead before the 9th hurdle was reached, and remarkably 6 men were still in with an Olympic chance, as Jackson led from Johnson, Clement, the surprising Gaymon, McCoy and Taylor, with perhaps 3 meters covering them. With 30 meters to go Gaymon was in second place, but Clement and a surging Taylor slipped past to book their places to Beijing, while Johnny Dutch finished strongly to place 5th. Less blustery wind conditions would have seen the athletes run half a second quicker. Jackson's winning time was slower than his 4th place finish 4 years earlier.

High Jump - July 5, 12.55 Hr

Qualifying: July 3, 19.25 Hr: Johnson, Littleton and Miller cleared 7'0 1/2" (2.15) with no misses, and all other qualifiers cleared 7'2 1/4" (2.19). Non-qualifiers: Trent Arrivey (Wa St), Matt Carter (VSA), Eugene Hutchison (Unat), Joe Kindred (St Aug), Erik Kynard (Oh HS), Ed Wright (CAL) 7'0 1/2" (2.15), Ryan Fritz (Penn St), Marcus Harris (Shore), Jason House (Sn) and Kyle Lancaster (Unat) - No height.

A disturbing trend showed itself in the qualifying round, when jumps at 2.15 proved good enough to make the final. Not since 1976 had such a low level applied to the Trials High Jump qualification. In 1988 it had taken 7'5" just to qualify, but here 7'5 1/4" was enough to clear out 8 of the 13 finalists. As the remaining 5 finalists moved up to 7'6 1/2" Williams, Nieto and Manson led with clean sheets, and Williams went over 2.30 to cement victory. None of the others went over 2.30, which meant that of the top-3, Nieto didn't have an "A" standard of 2.30, which was required at or prior to the Trials. A jump-off (outside the rules) took place, but Nieto couldn't make the team, so the third spot went to the next "A" standard jumper – either Sellers or Jonas, who had a jump-off, which Jonas (a 2.36 jumper in 2008) won. Williams had 3 reasonable attempts at 2.36. None of the jumpers selected managed more than 2.25 in Beijing.

Qualifying: June 27, 17.50 Hr: Walker cleared 18'4 1/2" (5.60), all other qualifiers cleared 18'0 1/2" (5.50). non-qualifiers: Jason Colwick (Rice), Tye Harvey (Asics), Mark Hollis (Unat), Brian Mondschein (Unat), Darren Neidermeyer (Unat), Rory Quiller (Asics), Chris Steddum (Unat) 17'8 1/2" (5.40). Only Lawrence Johnson and Scott Huffman amongst US Olympians since 1996 were missing from the field. Variable winds played havoc with the jumping, with just 2 athletes over 5.70 in the final. By contrast 7 made that height in 2004. There were 7 jumpers left at 5.60, with 2 passing to the next height. World champion Walker, who was a prohibitive favorite after his US record of 6.04 in Eugene 3 weeks earlier, cleared 5.65 on his opening jump of the day, which turned out to be good enough to make the team. 1996 Olympian Hartwig became, at 40, the oldest vaulter (by 8 years!) ever to make the US team when he cleared 5.70 at his final attempt, though his clearance at 5.60 would have been sufficient. Derek Miles, who would prove to be far and away the best male US jumper in Beijing with his 4th place), won the event with his first time clearance at 5.70, before achieving his winning height of 5.80 on his second jump.

Qualifying: June 27, 19.30 Hr, 26'9" (8.15) or top-12: Pate 27'0 ½" (8.24), Tobler 26'9 ¼" (8.16), Johnson 26'6 ½" (8.09), Turner 26'6 ½" (8.09), Quinley 26'3" (8.00), Allen 26'2 ¾" (7.99), Flimmons 26'0 ½" (7.94), Phillips 26'0 ¼" (7.93), Bassett 25'10 ¾" (7.89), Cole 25'8 ¾" (7.84), Morrison 25'8" (7.82), Morse 25'6 ¾" (7.79), Ramzy 25'4 ¾" (7.74) – 13th jumper added due to a declaration issue. Non-qualifiers: Norris Frederick (Wa) 25'2" (7.67), Dexter Adams (NC St) 25'0 ¾" (7.64), Leoinidas Watson (TXO) 24'11" (7.59), Kevin Dilworth (Unat) 24'10" (7.57), Tony Allmond (Cheet) 24'9 ¼" (7.55), Jeremy Singleton (Unat) 24'9" (7.54), Tone Blet (Louis) 24'9" (7.54), Elvie Williams (Unat) 24'4 ½" (7.43), Allen Simms (Unat) 24'4 ½" (7.43), Walter Davis (Nik) and Tyrone Harris (Shore) – 3 fouls.

After a qualifying round which saw Walter Davis as the principal casualty, the jumpers found themselves having to cope with variable following winds. Phillips and Pate both reached 8.20w in round two, after surprising JaRod Tobler had jumped 8.09 in the opening round (following a PR in qualifying of 8.16). Pate improved slightly to 8.22 in round three to 8.22, followed two jumps later by Johnson, who reached 8.30w. The 3 favorites looked as though their Olympic places were booked. However, Trevell Quinley moved up from 5th in the penultimate round with 8.22w to dislodge Phillips. Phillips managed only 7.98w on his last jump, losing a team place by taking off behind the board, and Quinley had the jump of his life, reaching 27'5" with his last jump. None of the jumpers made the Olympic final. By contrast, Phillips medaled in every global championship he entered (5 in all) from 2003 to 2007.

Qualifying: July 4, 19.10 Hr, 55'1 ½" (16.80) or top-12: Davis 55'3" (16.84), Curry 54'10" (16.71), Wilson 54'6 ½" (16.62), Bell 54'5 ½" (16.60), Roulhac 54'3 ¼" (16.54), Simms 53'11 ¾" (16.45), J.Jenkins 53'5" (16.28), Willis 52'11 ½" (16.14), Halim 52'11" (16.13), Moore 52'9 ½" (16.09), Lemons 52' 4 ¾" (15.97), K.Jenkins 52'4 ½" (15.96). Non-qualifiers: Alphonso Jordan (Unat) 52'3 ¾" (15.94), Bashir Ramzy (Unat) 52'1 ¾", Ryan Grinnell (Boise) 51'11 ¾" (15.84), Tydree Lewis (Ok) 51'11 ¾" (15.84), Andre Black (Louis) 51'11" (15.82), Sharda Boutte (Ok) 51'7 ¾" (15.74), Marc Kellman (Unat) 51'5" (15.67), Ronald Carter (VSA) 51'3" (15.62), Nkosinza Balumbu (Ark) 51'0" (15.54), Ryan McCoy (GM) 50'9 ½" (15.48), Lamont Dagen (HPC) 48'6" (14.78), Clarence Smith (Penn St) 48'0 ¾" (14.65).

37 of the 49 measured jumps in the final were wind-assisted, and in those circumstances some strange results can occur. Kenta Bell took advantage of a 4.5 wind with the first jump of the competition to jump 56'6 ½" and set the standard. No-one got close until the third round when Curry and Davis hit 56'3 ¼" and 56'5 ¼" on successive jumps. The next round saw Brandon Roulhac jump a barely windy 56'3 3/34" to move into third place. Wilson closed in with his 5th round 56'2 ½", which meant that just 4 inches covered the top-5. Wilson got a perfect 2.0 wind for his final jump – a Hayward field record of 57'2 ¼", and Curry jumped 56'5 3/4" to dislodge Davis from the team. As with the long jumpers none of the Americans made it to the final in Beijing.

Shot Put – June 28, 16.40 Hr

9. Jamie Beyer (Shef) 63'0" (19.20), 10. Rhuben Williams (Shore) 61'7 ½" (18.78). Garrett Johnson (Unat) & Chris Figures (Unat) – 3 fouls. Qualifying: June 27, 21.00 Hr, 67'7" (20.60) or top-12: Nelson 69'0" (21.03), Hoffa 68'10 ½" (20.99), Cantwell 68'3 ¾" (20.82), Whiting 66'72 (20.29), Martin 66'5" (20.24), Taylor 66'0 ½" (20.13), Winger 65'9" (20.04), Figures 65'9 ¼" (19.96), Bryant 64'10 ¾" (19.78), Johnson 64'1 ¾" (19.55), Beyer 64'1" (19.53), Williams 63'11" (19.48). Non-qualifiers: Jesse Roberge 63'6 ¾" (19.37), Steve Manz (Unat) 63'3 ¼" (19.28), Jon Kalnas (Monm TC) 62'11 ¼" (19.18), Sean Shields (Unat) 62'4", Mitchell Pope (Unat) 62'1 ¼" (18.93), Bryan Vickers (Ash) 61'5 ¾" (18.74), Sheldon Battle (Unat) 61'4 ¼" (18.70), Zack Lloyd (Az) 60'3" (18.36), Vince Mosca (USAA) 60'3" (18.36), Shawn Best (Az) 60'0 ½" (18.29), Anthony Greer (Unat) 59'1 ¼" (18.01), Joe Remitz (Bemi) 59'0" (17.98), Tony Thompson 58'11 ¼" (17.96).

The triumvirate of Nelson, Cantwell and Hoffa were world champions all, and expected to make the team. Initially Dan Taylor threw a spanner in the works with his opening throw of 68'3", which led until Hoffa started to get going. A 68'7" in the second round was followed by 69'4" in the next round. Nelson, who was in 4th after three rounds, threw 68'6 ½" to edge past Taylor. Cantwell, who had failed badly in 2004, redeemed himself with his 5th round throw of 69'8 ¼", but lost the lead shortly after to Hoffa who put an excellent 72'0" to take back 1st place for good. Cantwell had a good try with 71'2 ¾" with his last throw, but was again overshadowed by Hoffa who left the best to last with his 72'6 ½". Nelson, who had produced a relatively poor effort to make the team, nevertheless had one foul of around 22 meters to show how he could perform. Cantwell went on to win silver in Beijing, as American Shot Putters provided 3 times as many Olympic finalists as all other 2008 US field eventers combined!

Qualifying : July 3, 20.30 Hr, 211'7" (64.50) automatic qualifier: Rome 206'5" (63.05), Lamb 204'7" (62.36), Waltz 204'2" (62.25), Godina 202'3" (61.64), Kuehl 201'4" (61.37), Reynolds 198'3" (60.42), Robertson 198'0" (60.37), Malone 197'11" (60.33), Conwell 197'3" (60.13), Scott 197'1" (60.09), Young 197'0" (60.06), Dennis 197'0" (60.06). Non-qualifiers: Brian Trainor 196'6" (59.91), Lance Brooks (Unat) 194'10" (59.39), Wes Stockbarger (Fla) 190'10" (58.16), Jason Schutz (Col St) 190'4" (58.02), Karl Erickson (Unat) 189'10" (57.87) Greg Garza (UCLA) 189'1" (57.63), Reedus Thurmond (CNW) 188'4" (58.40), Russ Winger (Unat) 184'4" (56.18), Chase Madison (Ky) 183'9" (56.01), Clendon Henderson (Lib) 181'2" (55.23), Dan Austin (Unat) 174'3" (53.12), Anthony Curtis (Unat) 172'9" (52.66).

Ian Waltz and Jarred Rome, the defending OT champion, were favorites to vie for the OT win this time, but Rome had a horrible day, failing to reach 200 feet by quite some way. Waltz, on the other hand, dominated proceedings, with 3 throws beyond the best of anyone else Reynolds 205'6" and Malone 205'7". This lasted until Waltz, the last of the finalists to throw, reached 207'9" to take the lead, which he increased to 211'9" in the next round. Michael Robertson went into third in round three with his 209'1", and Waltz emphasized his superiority with 216'1" in round four. The headwinds the throwers had to deal with did little to enhance the distances, and Waltz's best was only achieved after the wind switched to a quartering wind in the second half of the competition.

Johnson (NYAC) – 3 Fouls.

Qualifying: June 30, 16.45 Hr, 236'3" (72.00) or top-12: Kruger 240'6" (73.30), Martin 240'3" (73.22), Nutter 239'1" (72.87), Freeman 236'6" (72.08), Parker 234'0" (71.33), Paul 228'6" (69.65), Dunkleberger 228'0" (69.51), Mai 225'5" (68.70), McMahon 224'7" (68.46), Johnson 224'4" (68.38), MacKay 224'2" (68.34), Porter 223'6" (68.13). Non-qualifiers: Jesse Doty (SyrC) 221'2" (67.42), Adam Midles (TXO) 221'1" (67.40), Nick Owens (Shore) 219'8" (66.95), Brian Richotte (Unat) 219'5" (66.89), Boldi Kocsor (UCLA) 219'2" (66.80), Nick Welihozkiy (PBay) 219'2" (66.80), Chris Bryce (Unat) 217'1" (66.16), Kevin Becker (Unat) 216'0" (65.85), Chris Rohr (Mo) 216'0" (65.85), Arnaldo Cueto (Unat) 212'7" (64.80), Jason Morris (Mo) 211'2" (64.37), Wil Fleming (Unat) 208'9" (63.62)

Kruger led the qualifying by just 3 inches, and in the final opened up with 242'11", and led by over 3 foot from Jake Freeman (239'3"). As other throwers improved, so did Kruger, as he produced successive throws of 245'11", 247'3", 247'10" and 248'8". Behind him Nutter moved into second in the second round with 240'4", but was overtaken in the 4th round by Freeman (241'5") and then McMahon (244'4"). Kruger was the only athlete with a qualifying mark [258'1" in May in Eugene], and accordingly the only athlete selected for the Olympics. While it is traditional in Eugene to hold the Hammer on a field adjacent to the stadium, this was an area where the officials erred. The competition should have been held inside the stadium, with preliminary races deferred until the throwing finished – the athletes would have appreciated the attention, and perhaps thrown better, and the crowd would have enjoyed the competition. In 2012 the organisers should cater more for the throwers than they did in 2008.

Adam Montague (Fla) – Dnc

The change in Javelin specifications in 1986 meant that a tailwind became a benefit to throwers, so it seemed strange indeed that the throwers had blustery winds in their faces. Throwing in the opposite direction would have added 5-7 meters to the distances achieved, something both the throwers and the crowd would have preferred. Hot favorite at the beginning of the year had been Greer, the #3 thrower in the world, but the injury prone Greer had received surgery in December 2007 on the torn rotator cuff in his right shoulder. And could only manage 220'6" in the qualifying round, so snapping his run of 8 consecutive US titles. Barry Krammes led the qualifiers with 259'1", which would turn out to be nearly 10 foot better than the winning throw in the final. Brian Chaput took the lead early with his 248'1", but was overhauled by Mike Hazle in round three. Bobby Smith, very much an outsider, hit the winning throw in the 5th round. Then the complications began. Only 2 of the finalists had "A" standard marks, and so Leigh Smith and Mike Hazle made the team; subsequently Greer was selected, and though he improved more than 6 meters in Beijing, neither Greer nor the others qualified for the final.

Bryan Clay opened up with 10.39 to lead by 9 over Trey Hardee with 1001 points. Hardee edged past Clay with a 7.75 long jump, and Pappas went by both of them with a superb 56'7 1/2" shot. Clay moved up from third with his 6'10" high jump, and was never headed. Hardee came close, being 17 points back after 6 events after edging Clay 13.71 to 13.75 in the hurdles. Clay's dynamic throwing ability got him clear of his rivals in the discus when he threw 173'0" to extend his lead to 194 over Pappas. A javelin throw of 231'5" took the lead over 300 points which was only slightly cut in the final event, when Hardee edged past Pappas for second. Clay's 8832 beat Dan O'Brien's OT record by over 100 points, while Hardee's 8534 was a PR, Aand Pappas's 8511 was his best for 4 years. Behind them Jake Arnold edged local boy Ashton Eaton and Jangy Addy for 4th. Addy would go on to place 20th in Beijing – representing Liberia, while Clay would attain the one title to have eluded him, winning with 8791.

In an outstanding field, it was generally considered by observers that competitive Lauren Williams would make the team, and that the USA's fastest in 2008, Allyson Felix and Marshevet Hooker (on 10.93), and Pre winner Torri Edwards (10.94) would be battling for places on the team. Williams ran 11.03 in her heat, but was edged by sharp looking Muna Lee. Felix (11.01w), Edwards (11.16) and Hooker (10.94w) all won their heats. Hooker then ran an impressive 10.76w ahead of Williams (10.85w), as 4 ducked under 11.00, and became the race favorite. Carmelita Jeter edged Felix 10.97 to 10.98, and Edwards ran 10.85w with Lee (10.89w) in close attendance. Bianca Knight ran 11.07 in her quarter-final, the #2 mark ever by a US junior, and finished 0.01 behind Angela Williams, who set the US junior mark (11.04) back in 1999. The average time of the 24 runners in these almost ideal conditions (95o and average wind +2.1) was 11.08!

The semi-finals saw Edwards emerge as favorite. After Hooker beat Williams for the second time 10.89w to 10.92w, with Lee between them (10.91w), Edwards took advantage of a 1.8 wind to run a magnificent and relaxed looking 10.78. Angela Williams started best in the final, but Edwards caught her at 30m, and was the leader until 85m. Lee, who had looked good throughout the event, but had not appeared to be the best, suddenly was – she was 3rd at 50m and closed in on Edwards sharply as the latter decelerated after the 80m mark, going away to win by half a meter. Williams lived up to her reputation almost catching Edwards at the finish, and heading off Hooker and Felix, both of whom left themselves too much to do in the second half of the race.

Winner of the '04 Trials race, Felix was favorite to repeat, and waited until the semi-finals to open up. Prior to that round, the most impressive runner was Shalonda Solomon, who was fastest in the first two rounds [22.51/22.68]. Bianca Knight, already impressive in the 100, edged Hooker [22.55] and Lauryn Williams [22.59] with her 22.53, which saw her take the lead from Edwards at 80m and build up a lead of a meter and a half by 150m, before Hooker and Williams began to reel her in. Felix won the other semi in a much faster 22.22, looking remarkably easy, as did Muna Lee behind her. In the final, Lee was out slightly better than Felix, who worked hard to catch Lee after 80m. Felix gradually drew away from Lee, who was a clear second – 2 meters behind Felix and 2 ahead of the next three. Knight had run an excellent bend, and held third until Williams caught her with 20 meters to go. Battling with Williams was Hooker, who stumbled with 3 meters to go, falling over the line. In getting to the horizontal her chest reached the line ahead of Williams, winning her an Olympic spot. In both the Trials and the Olympics first and second repeated from 2004, with Felix running 21.93 for second despite a hip problem, before setting the 4x400 alight with a 48.6 split which ensured US victory

Having failed to make the 400 team for Osaka in 2007, Richards was keen to eradicate memories of her illness in the previous year, and she confirmed her status as favorite in cruising through her heat, almost easing to walking pace across the line in 51.08, fastest time of the first round. Mary Wineberg, who had finished 2 meters behind Richards (50.10 to 50.32) in the Pre meet reconfirmed herself as Richards' most likely challenger with her semi-final win in 50.57, while Richards again took it easy in the closing stages in beating Trotter 50.75 to 50.90 in the second semi-final. 2004 winner Hennagan finished out of the money this time with her 51.99. Four of the finalists had been in the 2004 final, and two of those – Richards and Dunn led through 100 and 200 respectively. Richards, concerned with the wind was careful over in the second 100 meters, and was sporting faintly ridiculous arm protectors stretching from the wrist almost to her shoulders – supposedly to protect her from the wind. At the 200 mark Dunn led by 2 meters from Wineberg, with Richards another 3 meters back. By 300 meters Richards led by a small margin from Wineberg, with Dunn now wilting. Richards went away in the straight, and won by 8 meters from Wineberg, with Trotter moving up from 7th at 300m to take the third Olympic spot – as she had done in 2004. Richards' time of 49.89 was exactly the same as her 2004 Trials time.

The preliminaries were uneventful until the first semi-final. Alice Schmidt was leading at 600m when Kameisha Bennett went down, and in the ensuing melée Teter, Horn and Thomas all went down. Nicole Teter appealed, and all 4 were eventually allowed to go through to the final. A field of 12 could have caused problems with a slow pace, but two-time Olympian wasn't going to take such risks, and she zipped through 200m in 26.83, before easing down to pass halfway in 56.90, with Schmidt and Waits in close contact. Clark held form through 600m (1:27.3) with Schmidt still in touch, but a gap of 4 meters to third place (Teter) had arisen. In a final 200m that looked tortuous Clark went clear of Schmidt despite running 32.49 [2:10 pace], regaining her Trials 800 title, and Teter lost third place to Kameisha Bennett, while Maggie Vessey came up from 11th at 600m to take 5th. Teter, who possessed an "A" qualifying time, was selected for Beijing over Bennett.

Shannon Rowbury had a best of 4:12.41 entering 2008, but she stepped up a gear, and by the Trials she had improved to 4:01.61. After winning her heat and semi-final she was the overwhelming favorite to win. The other big story of the preliminaries was Jordan Hasay, who set a High School record of 4:14.50 in qualifying for the final. The 16 year old Hasay would place 10th in the final, and then flew off to Poland to finish 4th in the World Junior championships. In the Eugene final Rowbury followed Clement (68.35) and Wurth-Thomas (2:16.12) through the first 2 laps, before breaking away with 600 meters left. By the bell she had 8 meters Wurth-Thomas and the race for first place was over. Donohue was 5 meters behind second, and in turn nearly 10 meters ahead of the rest of the field. Rowbury completed her final lap in 61.28 and the last 800m in 2:05.58 (3:55.5 pace), and Donohue outkicked Wurt-Thomas for second. Morgan Uceny, following on her 6th in the 800, was 4th in a PR 4:10.85.

3000 Meters Steeplechase - July 3, 21:45 Hr

Heats - first 4 plus 6 fastest losers qualify, June 30, 19.40 Hr

1/ 1. Bush 9:49.53, 2. L.Anderson 9:49.71, 3. Galaviz 9:52.66, 5. DiCrescenzo 9:56.44, 6. Long 9:56.72, 7. K.Anderson 9:59.62, 8. Higgins 10:02.88, 9. Dawn Cromer (Brooks) 10:21.77, 10. Brittany Somers (Unat) 10:22.34, 11. Liz Wort (Brooks) 10:29.37, 12. A'Havahla Haynes (Wi) 10:48.81

2/ 1. Barringer 9:48.50, 2. Willard 9:52.06, 3. Strickland 9:53.43, 4. Messner-Vickers 9:53.78, 5. Gaffigan 9:55.24, 6. Lorenzen 9:58.92, 7. Lindsay Allen (Stan) 10:04.47, 8. Bridget Franek (Penn St) 10:11.56, 9. Kelly Strong (Asics) 10:13.70, 10. Sarah Madebach (Ga) 10:14.10, 11. Lindsay Sundell (Fla) 10:19.57, 12. Kathryn Andersen (Nik) 10:37.23

It was difficult to assess who was favorite going into the meet, though NCAA winner Barringer (with 9:29.20) was less than half a second off Lisa Galaviz's US record (9:28.75), and Willard (9:37 in May) and '04 OT exhibition event winner Gaffigan were also contenders. Bush set a Trials record of 9:49.53 in the heats, though this was 10 seconds off Gaffigan's OT exhibition win in 2004. Barringer set the pace in the final, passing 1000m in 3:05. Willard, Lindsay Anderson, Bush, Messner-Vickers, Galaviz and Di Crescenzo followed the pace closely. The last two started to tail off by halfway, and with a kilometer to go (6:19.8) the lead group was down to three. Willard went to the front with 600m to go, and Anderson then went by Barringer. Willard, who set a US record in winning was doubly happy, having just got engaged, and particularly noticeable, with bright pink streaks in her blond hair. Willard improved to 9:22.76 later in the year but Barringer took back her US record with 9:22.26 for 9th in the Olympic final, one place ahead of Willard.

Heats - first 6 plus 4 fastest losers qualify, June 30, 20.50/21.15 Hr

1/ 1. Flanagan 15:35.86, 2. McCandless 15:36.52, 3. Fleshman 15:36.79, 4. Cook 15:37.07, 5. Huddle 15:37.60, 6. Fanning 15:57.73, 7. Metivier Baille 15:44.44, 8. Bizzarri 15:45.78, 9. Emily Brown (TMn) 15:57.34, 10. Mandi Zemba (NBal) 16:15.72. Nicole Blood (Or) – Dnf

2/ 1. Goucher 15:32.22, 2. Rhines 15:32.31, 3. Lambie 15:32.56, 4. Culley 15:36.50, 5. Donaghue 15:38.95, 6. Slattery 15:40.24, 7. McWalters 15:49.54, 8. Hastings 15:53.90, 9. Cack Ferrell (Or TC) 16:23.04. Julia Lucas (Reeb) – Dnf

The heats eliminated 3 finishers (as in 2004), and 2 more failed to finish. The first 3 laps of the race were insipid, averaging more than 75 seconds per circuit. One kilometer was reached in 3:08.36, and Arianna Lambie took over the pace, passing 2k in 6:10.20 and 3k in 9:12.68. At that point the leading pack was down to 6 athletes [Lambie, Flanagan, Fleshman, Goucher, Rhines and Slattery]. Up to the 4k point little changed, and then Flanagan took over. Within 100m after 4k (reached in 12:15.50), the field was split into two, with the short Rhines chasing Flanagan and Goucher bringing up the rear of the first echelon. The pace, which had been moving steadily at 73 pace was moved up to 71 in the 12th lap, and succeeded by laps of 67 and 65. The order was still the same with 200 to go, and Goucher went past Rhines with 150m to go, and caught Flanagan off the final curve. Rhines chased Goucher down the finishing straight, but

Goucher won by 7 meters with her last lap of 64.6, with the tired Flanagan 5 meters behind Rhines. The victory was [articularly satisfying for Goucher, who'd finished last in her heat 4 years earlier. All 3 made the Olympic final, the only track event – male or female – beyond 400m where the US managed to do so in 2008.

10000 Meters – June 27, 21.20 Hr

1. Shalane Flanagan (Nik)	31:34.81	(16:10.75/15:24.06)
1. Kara Goucher (Nik)	31:37.72	(16:11.00/15:26.72)

6. Magdalena Lewy Boulet (Saucony)	32:45.06
7. Sara Slattery (adi)	32:46.60
8. Lisa Koll (Ia St)	33:09.87

9. Molly Huddle (Saucony) 33:17.73, 10. Melissa Cook (NBal) 33:18.12, 11. Desiree Davila (Hans) 33:18.56, 12. Stephanie Rothstein (Unat) 33:22.86, 13. Amy Rudolph (adi) 33:33.34, 14. Amy Hastings (adi) 33:37.52, 15. Elva Dryer (Nik) 33:38.60, 16. Serena Burla (Riad) 33:40.40, 17. Allison Grace (Zap) 33:40.84, 18. Jill Steffens (Nbal) 33:51.88, 19. Melissa White (Hans) 33:54.35, 20. Sharon Thompson (Unat) 34:10.46, 21. Tara Storage (ROhSS) 34:24.84, 22. Heather Gibson (Asics) 34:28.00, 23. Kathy Newberry (NYAC) 34:34.20

The only contender not in the field was Deena Drossin, 2004 winner, who was concentrating on the Marathon. The temperature had reached 86o earlier in the day, and the athletes were over cautious with the first couple of laps, covered in 82 and 84 seconds, respectively. The pace improved, but even at halfway the time of 16:10.64 suggested that 32 minutes would likely be the finishing time, while 31:45 was required for the “A” standard. There were 6 in the leading bunch at 5000, with Flanagan, Goucher and 2004 fourth placer McGregor the only ones with the “A” standard. By 7km, only Begley was with Flanagan and Goucher. Begley, needing 31:45 took the lead in the 8th kilometer, which was reached in 25:38.29. Flanagan then took the lead, and while Goucher stayed in contact, Begley began to lose ground. With 2 laps to go she was 20 meters behind Flanagan. Goucher took the lead shortly before the bell, but Flanagan quickly went past her, and won by 20 meters thanks to her last lap of 66.42. Goucher finished off with 69.40 to qualify for Beijing, but the crowd was focusing on Begley. Requiring a last lap of 68.6 to make the “A” standard, she fought hard and crossed the line with 1.40 seconds to spare, much to the joy of the crowd. Her second 5k had been covered in 15:32.30 – a time she had beaten just once in her career, 3 years earlier. Flanagan went on to win a much merited bronze medal in the Olympics, despite having suffered food poisoning a couple of days prior to the race.

20 Kilometer Walk - July 6, 07.00 Hr

1. Joanne Dow (adi)	1:35:11
2. Teresa Vaill (WUSA)	1:36:35
3. Susan Armenta (Unat)	1:42:12
4. Sam Cohen (ParkA)	1:42:33
5. Jolene Moore (ParkA)	1:42:37
6. Stephanie Casey (Unat)	1:43:51

8. Maria Michta (WUSA)	1:47:45

9. Caroline Kealty (Unat) 1:48:40, 10. Loretta Schuellein (WUSA) 1:49:04, 11. Susan Randall (MiaVTC) 1:49:15, 12. Margaret Ditchburn (Unat) 1:51:31, 13 Heidi Hauch (Unat) 2:12:01. Lauren Forgues (MeRw) – Dnf; Kristen Furseth-Mullaney (PegAC) & Sara Standley-Gonzalez (Unat) – DQ.

Competing for the one available space, Joanne Dow reversed the placings of 2004, beating 45 year old Teresa Vaill to win her first Olympic selection at the third attempt. The top-5 had placed in the top-6 4 years earlier. Only Dow and Vaill had reached the “B” standard, so this turned out to be a straight duel. Vaill had been the oldest US female Olympian 4 years earlier, and now Dow, at 44 and 4 months, eclipsed that record.

Magdalena Lewy Boulet, 5th in 2004, took the race by the scruff of the neck immediately. By 3 miles (17:27) she had a lead of 44 seconds, which was over a minute by 5 miles. She passed 10k in 35:40, and by 20k (70:46) the lead was up to 1:50. Behind her a pack of 8 were biding their time, waiting for Deena Kastor to make her move. Halfway was reached in 1:14:38 by Lewy Boulet, and 1:16:20 by the pack. Kastor began to make her move in the 16th mile. Only Russell could stay within spitting distance, and not for long. By 18 miles she was 19 seconds clear of Russell, but still 1:33 behind MLB. However, gains of 10 seconds a mile suddenly turned into gains of 20 seconds per mile. 1:15 behind at 20 miles became 8 seconds behind at 23 miles. Kastor was 5 seconds in front at 24 miles, and went away to win. It was her first OT win, but confirmed her as the USA's best marathoner – as she had been for 6 of the previous 7 years. Lewy Boulet held on well to finish second, with Russell, 4th in 2004, improving one position to take the final spot. Down on 90th place – with 2:49:48, was 1984 Olympic champion Joan Samuelson, at the age of 50.

Heats - first 4 plus 8 fastest losers qualify, July 5, 11.00 Hr

- 1/ 1. Davis 12.92, 2. Powell 13.12, 3. Ofili 13.19, 4. Moss 13.33, 5. Smith 13.51, 6. Williams 13.55, 7. Jacquelyn Coward (Tn HS) 13.69 (-0.1w)
- 2/ 1. Wells 13.02, 2. Perry 13.13, 3. Denby 13.15, 4. Lodree 13.39, 5. Garner 13.63, 6. Sherlenia Green (Va T) 13.96. Hyleas Fountain (Nik) – Dnc (-2.6w)
- 3/ 1. Cherry 12.92, 2. Harper 13.01, 3. G.Johnson 13.09, 4. Castlin 13.14, 5. O'Kelley 13.15, 6. Waller 13.40, 7. A.Williams 13.57 (-0.4w)
- 4/ 1. Jones 12.68, 2. Hayes 12.74, 3. Lewis 12.93, 4. Carruthers 13.04, 5. Clarke 13.30, 7. Broom 13.55, 7. Landria Buckley (Unat) 13.73 (+1.5w)

Fastest in the heats was Jones, who ran 12.68 ahead of '04 Olympic champion Hayes (12.74), with the wind a friendly +1.5, having shifted from -2.6 in an earlier heat. Jones (12.59) and Hayes (12.65) were again the fastest later in the day in round two, displacing Damu Cherry (12.47 earlier in the season) as most likely to succeed. Cherry regained credibility in the semis with a 12.48 win in the first semi-final, ahead of Kellie Wells who ran a PR 12.58, but suffered a hamstring pull at the finish. Hayes and Powell qualified, eliminating double world champion Michelle Perry, also affected by a hamstring injury. Jones then ran a world leading 12.45 in the second semi-final, with both Denby (12.54) and Harper (12.58) running PRs behind her. Jones got a good start in the final, and steadily went away from the field, clocking a superb 12.29 to win by 3 meters from Cherry. Dawn Harper was a clear third at the 8th barrier, but she hit that hurdle hard and only just held off the faster finishing Nicole Denby, and her margin of 7/1000ths was effectively the difference between not making the team and winning the Olympic gold medal!

400 Meters Hurdles – June 29, 16.02 Hr

5.	1. Tiffany Ross-Williams (Reeb)	54.03
8.	2. Queen Harrison (Va T)	54.60
4.	3. Sheena Tosta (Nik)	54.62
6.	4. Lashinda Demus (Nik)	54.76
3.	5. Christine Spence (Nik)	55.74
2.	6. Latosha Wallace (Asics)	55.85
1.	7. Angel Perkins (adi)	56.23
7.	-. Miriam Barnes (Nik)	DQ/Dnf

Semifinals - first 4 qualify, June 28, 16.10 Hr

- 1/ 1. Tosta 54.95, 2. Barnes 55.35, 3. Harrison 56.04, 4. Wallace 56.15, 5. Melinda Sallins (Unat) 56.39, 6. Shelenia Green (Va T) 57.06, 7. Meka Rembert-Thompson (Exec) 57.74, 8. Deseria Brown (Sn II E) 59.66
- 2/ 1. Ross-Williams 54.75, 2. Demus 55.70, 3. Spence 55.82, 4. Perkins 56.08, 5. Markita James (Nik) 56.18, 6. Jennifer Grossarth (Unat) 56.37, 7. Dominique Darden (Unat) 56.54, 8. Erin Crawford (Unat) 59.49

Heats - first 3 plus 4 fastest losers qualify, June 27, 18.30 Hr

- 1/ 1. Tosta 56.07, 2. Wallace 56.67, 3. Harrison 57.16, 4. Crawford 58.30, 5. LaToya James (NC) 58.64, 6. Talaya Owens (Al) 59.50, 7. Erica Moore (In St) 59.70
- 2/ 1. Demus 56.98, 2. Sallins 57.15, 3. Grossarth 58.81, 4. Kathleen LaValley (Mi) 59.62, 5. Ashley Brown (Kans) 61.21. Jacquelyn Coward (Ca HS) & Sandra Glover (Nik) – Dnc
- 3/ 1. Ross-Williams 55.47, 2. Darden 56.55, 3. James 56.63, 4. Perkins 57.14, 5. De.Brown 57.15, 6. Rembert-Thompson 58.30. Tacita Bass (Exec) – Dnc
- 4/ 1. Barnes 56.23, 2. Spence 57.49, 3. Green 58.12, 4. Da.Brown 58.74, 5. Ryann Kraiss (Pa HS) 59.39, 6. Nicole Leach (UCLA) 60.90

Ross-Williams was the fastest in the heats and semis, running 55.47 and 54.75. Only Sheena Tosta, winner of the first semi-final with 54.75, was able to join Ross-Williams under 55 seconds, as the breezes which affected the men's 400 hurdle times took their toll on the women as well. These two, together with LaShinda Demus, the only American under 54 seconds in 2008, were regarded as the likely team members. Demus led early on in the final, but Ross-Williams caught her at the 7th hurdle, and was thereafter never headed. Behind the two leaders Barnes and Tosta were battling for third, with Harrison in fifth. Barnes then hit the 8th hurdle and fell into Harrison's lane, with the latter taking evasive action to avoid colliding with Barnes. Harrison then showed great poise, passing Tosta and catching Demus 10 meters from the line. Demus, who had struggled at the last hurdle, went from 2nd to 4th in the space of a second missing Olympic selection.

Qualifying: June 30, 19.15 Hr: Automatic qualifying 6'2 ¾" - All finalists cleared 5'11 ½" (1.82) except Briscoe, Christiansen, Gordon and Harris who cleared 5'10 ½" (1.79) – 1st attempt. . Non-qualifiers: Beth Ann Costagno (Shore), Jasmin Day (Az), Desirae Gonder (CSN) 5'10 ½" (1.79) , Epley Bullock (Neb), Renee Hein (Unat), Carin Knight (Ct), Ann Louise Larsen (Unat), Victoria Lucas (Tex HS), Inika McPherson (Cal), Britney Rogers (Unat), Kaylene Wagner (Unat) (all no heights (1.79). Tisha Waller (unat) - Dnc

Acuff and Howard were favored to repeat again – in Acuff's case it would be a prospective 4th Olympic selection. When the bar was raised to 6'4" Acuff, with a clean card led from Howard (one miss at 6'0 ½"), and were accompanied by Sharon Day and Deidre Mullen. However, neither could clear that height, leaving Day with the 3rd Olympic spot; both Howard and Acuff cleared 6'4", and Howard then went on to make 6'4 ¾" and 6'5 ½". A happy Acuff attributed her failure to make a height beyond 6'4" to making the team – "As soon as I knew I was on the team, I lost my mind and composure for jumping. Just getting in the top-3, that's all that matters".

=10. Lacy Janson (Nik) & Melinda Owen (Id) 14'5 1/4" (4.40). Erin Asay (Unat) – No height.

Qualifying: 3 July, 19.10 Hr – Automatic qualifier 14'9" (4.50). Asay, O'Hara & Owen cleared 13'9 1/4" (4.20), all other finalists cleared 14'1 1/4" (4.30). Non-qualifiers: Tori Anthony (UCLA), Kate Conwell (CNW), Kylie Hutson (In St), April Kubishta (Az St), Elly Rudy (Mt St) & Katie Stripling (Ark) 13'5 1/4" (4.10). The following no heighted: - Natalie Moser (Fla), Katelin Rains (Mank), Brysun Stately (Unat), Nicole McEwen (Nik), Ingrid Kantola (Unat), Andree Pickens (Unat)

The strong following winds caused problems for some of the jumpers, but even so – when the bar reached 14'9" there were still 11 athletes in the competition. Surprisingly, Stacy Dragila and 15 footer Chelsea Johnson both failed at that height, and only 4 athletes cleared (with 2 passing). At 14'11" Schwartz, O'Hara & Holliday all failed, while the least fancied of the 4 jumpers going at that height – Erica Bartolina made the height on her last jump. At 15'1" April Steiner Bennett cleared on her second jump, while Jenn Stuczynski, attempting her first height of the afternoon, cleared (easily) on her final jump at the height. From then on it was the Stuczynski show, as she cleared 15'3" and a Trials record 15'7 1/4" first time, before getting over 16'1 3/4" for a US record, and then had two reasonable jumps at a WR 16'5 1/2". Stuczynski went on to win the silver medal in Beijing.

Qualifying: July 12, 20.40 Hr, 21'11 3/4"/6.70 or top-12 – Fountain 21'10 1/4" (6.66)/+1.6, Reese 21'8 3/4" (6.62)/-0.7, Jimoh 21'8 1/4" (6.61)/+1.0, McKinney 21'6 1/4" (6.56)/+0.8, Glenn 21'5 1/4" (6.53)/0.0, Upshaw & Richmond 21'4" (6.50), Sesay 21'3 1/2" (6.49), Madison 21'2" (6.45), McLain 21'0 3/4" (6.42), Marshall 21'0"w (6.40), Maduka 20'10" (6.35)Walker 21'2" (6.45), Madison 21'1 1/2" (6.44), Wright 21'1 1/2" (6.44), King 21'0 1/2" (6.41), M.Jones 20'11 3/4" (6.39), Glenn 20'11 3/4"w (6.39), Richmond 20'11 1/4" (6.38), Graves 20'9 1/4" (6.33), S.Jones 20'9 1/4" (6.33), McKinney 20'9 1/4" (6.33)

Non-qualifiers: Jenny Adams (adi) 20'6 1/2" (6.26), April Holliness (Nik) 20'5 3/4" (6.24), Antonette Carter (Asics) 20'4 1/4" (6.20), Kiamesha Otey (Unat) 20'3 1/2" (6.18), Lela Nelson (Nik) 20'1" (6.12), Mindy Neeley (McClurkin) 20'0 1/2" (6.11), Gayle Hunter (Penn St) 19'9 3/4" (6.04), Natasha Harvey (Jack) 19'9 1/2" (6.03), Janay deLoach (Col St) 19'7 1/2" (5.98), Alesha Walker (NM) 19'6 1/4" (5.95), Tisifene Taylor (Mon TC) 19'2 3/4" (5.86), Tori Polk (Unat) 19'2" (5.84), Shaquania Lundy (Jack) 19'1 1/4" (5.82), Lorian Price (Unat) 19'0 3/4" (5.81), Ronda White (Unat) 18'11 1/4" (5.77)

No-one reached the automatic qualifying distance, with the preliminary round headed by Fountain's 21'10 1/2". With the wind fluctuating between -1.6 and +4.3, conditions were difficult for judging the run-up. Nevertheless, the athletes produced only 12 foul jumps in the competition. 2004 Olympian Grace Upshaw led at the end of round one with 21'7 3/4", but Funmi Jimoh confirmed her 2008 improvement (from 6.46 to 6.91) with 6.72w in round two. This lasted until the next round, when NCAA champion Reese hit 22'2 1/4" to be followed later in the round by Upshaw's 22'7". Fountain closed up with 21'11 3/4" in round four, but then it was Reese who supplied the fireworks, first with a slight improvement to 22'3 1/2" in round five, and then a final round PR of 22'9 3/4". All 3 Olympians made the Beijing final, with Reese the best of the US jumpers with 22;2 1/4" for fifth place.

Non-qualifiers: Sheena Gordon (Unat) 44'0 1/2"w (13.42)/+3.3, Tahari James (BU) 43'11 3/4" (13.40)/+1.8, Colleen Scott (Unat) 43'11 1/4"w (13.39)/+3.5, April Williams (P2P) 43'11 1/4"w (13.39)/+2.9, Tamara Highsmith (Ct) 43'8 3/4" (13.33)/+2.0, Ronda White (Unat) 43'8 1/2"w (13.32)/+2.9, Tiombe Hurd (Nik) 43'6"w (13.26)/+3.3w, Alyce Williams (P2P) 43'4 1/2"w (13.22)/+3.3, Blessing Ufodiama (VSA) 43'0 1/2" (13.12)/+1.8, Renee Williams (UCLA) 41'1"w (12.52). Neidra Covington (TCU) and Pascale Delaunay (Cheet) – Dnc.

Shani Marks had twice reached the "A" standard of 46'7" (14.20) in 2008, and led the qualifiers with a wind aided 47'0 3/4". Pre-meet favorite Welsch took the lead in the final with the second jump of the competition – 45'10 3/4" (13.99), and held it until Marks boomed the winning jump of 47'2 1/4" in the third round, becoming the third American to legally exceed 47'0". Welsch reacted well, reaching 46'10"w in round five, but it was not enough. Having placed second in 2004, Welsch repeated – only to suffer the same fate of not being selected because she hadn't reached the "A" standard (her best was 14.17) – particularly unfortunate on this occasion, as she got the distance, but with illegal wind. Third placer McLain did have the requisite performance, and so was selected.

Michelle Carter had the genetic blessing of being the daughter of Michael Carter, High School record holder in the shot from the 1970's, and the curse of excessive expectations because of those genes. A 59'11" putter 3 years earlier she had stagnated...until reaching 60'1 3/4" in the qualifying round. She then produced an "A" standard effort of 60'3 1/4" in the first round, before improving in the next round to 61'10 1/4". Behind her Kristina Heaston trailed Jill Camarena's 59'5 1/2" for the first half of the competition before getting over 60'0" twice to ensure second position. Camarena's opening effort held up for third, but 4 other athletes were within 8 inches of her 59'5 1/2". Both Camarena and Carter went on to make the Olympic final, the first Americans to do so in the event since 1996.

Qualifying: June 27, 19.50 Hr, 196'10" (60.00) or top-12: Brown Trafton 208'8" (63.61), Powell 201'5" (61.39), Thurmond 201'1"

(61.29), Breisch 198'2" (60.41), Pierson 193'11" (59.12), Anyanwu 185'1" (56.42), Longfors 181'10" (55.42), Barnes 176'8" (53.86), Varner 175'10" (53.61), Corner 174'4" (53.15), Talley 173'3" (52.80). Non-qualifiers: Ronda Gullatte (TOD) 171'4" (52.22), Jeré Summers (Louis) 169'11" (51.80), Melissa Bickett (Unat) 169'0" (51.53), D'Andra Carter (Tex T) 167'9" (51.14), Emily Pendleton (Mi) 164'2" (50.05), Kate Hutchinson (USC) 162'7" (49.56), Ana Jelmini (Ca HS) 160'6" (48.92), Merritt Dietz (Ok St) 160'4" (48.88), Billie-Jo Grant (Va) 159'6" (48.62), Jenney Larson (Unat) 158'5" (48.30), Annie Hess (Conc/Or) 153'2" (46.68). Gia Lewis (Unat) – 3 fouls.

Stephanie Brown Trafton had the second longest throw in the world (217'1") at the time of the Trials, and she led the qualifiers by more than 2 meters with 208'8". The final was a different matter, with the honors being taken by two time Olympians Aretha Thurmond (né Hill) and Suzy Powell. Thurmond took the lead with the third throw of the competition – 199'9", and never relinquished it booming her second throw out to a winning 213'11". Powell obtained her third Olympic selection with her third throw of 205'2", and consolidated her position with a sixth round 206'5". Brown Trafton dueled with Becky Breisch for the third spot, overtaking her for the second time with her 4th round 205'6". The conditions hadn't been conducive to big throwing – Summer Pierson threw 186'0" – as she had done at the 2004 Trials – and placed 6th (as compared with 9th four years earlier). Afterwards Brown Trafton said "I can't tell you how honored I am to be on the team with these tow ladies. It's hard to think at the moment". She collected her thoughts pretty well, becoming a surprise Olympic champion in Beijing with 64.74m

Hammer Throw - July 5, 13.10 Hr

1. Jessica Cosby (Nik)	232'0" (70.72)	70.72/69.56/70.00/68.49/x/69.94

Erin Gilreath (NYAC) 208'4" (63.50) /// Qualifying: July 3, 19.00 Hr, 224'9" (68.50) or top-12: Cosby 228'8" (69.70), Smith 223'3" (68.06), Yush 220'3" (67.14), Riley 219'6" (66.90), Campbell and Veress 219'0" (66.77), Godsey 217'3" (66.22), Gilreath 216'9" (66.08), Hinchcliffe 214'8" (65.43), Soong 212'4" (64.73), Lofton 212'3" (64.71), Myerscough 212'3" (64.69). Non-qualifiers: Leslie Coons (Unat) 209'7" (63.88), Amy Haapanen (Unat) 207'7" (63.29), Bethany Hart (Shore) 207'3" (63.17), Britney Henry (adi) 207'0" (63.09), McKenzie Garberg (Wa St) 200'7" (61.14), Loren Groves (Ks St) 199'9" (60.89), Ashley Harbin (Laf) 199'2, Kate Burton (Wy) and Vanessa Wilhelm (Unat) 194'6" (59.29), Elizabeth Alabi (Unat) 194'4" (59.23), Kristen Callan (Unat) 192'3" (58.60). Chandra Andrews (Unat) – 3 fouls.

The qualifying standard for the final was upped from 63.50 in 2004 by 5 meters. Only Cosby, attaining the Olympic "A" standard made that level, but 12 throwers did get beyond 64 meters – compared with 61.81 for 12th in the 2004 qualifying round. In the final the top 3 positions were settled by the end of the first round. Veress threw 221'4", to be overtaken by Campbell's 226'7" and, on the next throw, Cosby with 232'0". Four of Cosby's throws exceeded Campbell's best of 227'2", and she was duly selected, along with Campbell and Loree Smith, as Sarah Veress did not have an "A" standard mark to her name.

Javelin Throw – June 30, 20.20 Hr

// Qualifying: June 28, 12.45 Hr, 180'5" (55.00) or top-12: Pounds 187'10" (57.25), Kreiner 177'4" (54.02), DeShasier 176'6" (53.80), Patterson and Radocaj 175'9" (53.57), Yurkovich 172'5" (52.55), Backel 170'10" (52.08), Ford 170'1" (51.85), Blaine 169'5" (51.65), Coronado 168'5" (51.34), Wilkinson 164'1" (50.01), Webb 159'1" (48.48). Non-qualifiers: Lisa Brown (Gad) 157'9" (48.08), Anna Raynor (KK) 157'3" (47.95), Deloma Miller (Unat) 154'5" (47.07), Heidi Nadeau (Penn St) 154'3" (47.02), Ashley McCrea (Or) 153'2" (46.70), Inger Appanaitis (Nev) 153'0" (46.63), Stephanie Zollman (Unat) 152'8" (46.54), Hannah Warfield (Unat) 150'2" (45.77), Jessica Wingfield (Tex A&M) 147'11 (45.09), Alexandria Shaw (LB St) 147'1" (44.85), Carly Bloomfield (Unat) 145'2" (44.24).

Kara Patterson and Kim Kreiner were the only throwers to have reached the “A” standard of 60.50, and this was the determining factor for Olympic selection. Patterson led after the first round with 182’3”, and reacted well to Pounds’ second round 189’8” by coming up with two throws over 190’ to book her ticket to Beijing. Kreiner, carrying a plantar fascia foot injury finished out of the top 3 with 183’5” with her only fair throw, but it was enough for selection.

Hyleas Fountain dominated the event from the gun of the 100 hurdles. She ran 12.65w, and scored 1178 points. She was still in 7000+ territory when the Javelin began. Only in the High Jump did she fail to set a PR on the first day. Behind her Diane Pickler and the 2 Johnson’s waged a fierce battle for the 2 remaining Olympic spots, with Jacquelyn Johnson eventually establishing a hold over the runner-up position. The fight for third continued right down to the wire. After the first day Gi-Gi Johnson was 79 points behind Pickler, but by the time the Javelin finished the margin was down to 20 points, and in the end Pickler scraped home with 10 points to spare. All of the top 4 scored lifetime bests, and Fountain’s 6667 was the best in the world at that time in 2008. Fountain went on to score 6619 in Beijing, and came away with the silver medal.
