NCAA Cuts Track Funding

Last May the NCAA Executive Committee decided that track & field was getting more than its share of money, and mandated that schools would have to choose between getting funding to attend the indoor nationals or outdoor.

The committee—looking for ways to trim the budget—sent a questionnaire to every Div. I institution that sponsors track, asking if they would rather have excess funds returned to them directly, rather than having both national meets funded. "Out of 290 schools," says the NCAA's Harley Lewis, "we got two negative responses. There was not a large concern expressed by the administrators for the indoor champs."

Each school must decide in the fall whether it wants to be funded for the indoor championships or the outdoor. The decision is final. However, if the school opts for indoors and has no qualifiers for the meet, their funding could be switched to outdoors.

Critics—among them many coaches—have argued that the new policy will hurt the future of collegiate indoor track. Lewis thinks that the funding policy may actually guarantee the safety of the indoor meet. The new funding policy may act as a compromise and mollify the enemies of indoor track.

Says Lewis, "The NCAA will continue to fund the actual operation of the meet for the long-term. That's the plus. I don't think [coaches] have a reason to crab."

He concludes, "The membership made it clear that it wanted as much money as the NCAA could refund to them [most of the $11 million surplus was returned to the schools]. It was their choice to reduce the level of funding to track & field."

More GP Meets On Tap

With more meets clamoring to join the GP Circuit all the time, but with funds being limited, the IAAF has come up with an interesting way to accommodate everyone. However, there certainly will be some nasty infighting down the road as the field tightens.

A second level of GP meets—one which earns fewer points—has been created, and will begin in 1994 with 9 members. Combined with the 15 regular GP meets that means 24 GP affairs leading up to the GP Final.

This two-dozen figure has been declared as the magic number, but over the next four years the internal balance will be shifted.

In '95 there will be 14 GP, 10 GP II. For '96, 13/11, and in '97, 12/12. So, 3 current GP meets (at a minimum, assuming there are no promotions) are facing demotion in the next quadrennium.

The IAAF also eliminated the mile as GP Final event, reasoning that milers shouldn't get the 1500 one year and the mile the next. A new distribution of GP events has been devised.

Even-year events: Men—100, 400, 1500, 5000, 400H, HJ, TJ, SP, HT; Women—100, 400, 1500, 5000, 100H, LJ, DT, JT.

Odd-year events: Men—200, 800, 3000, St, 110H, PV, LJ, DT, JT; Women—200, 800, 3000, 400H, HJ, TJ, SP.

INDOOR AOYs

Jackson & Lasovskaya

Nothing could slow Great Britain's Colin Jackson this season as the fastest outdoor hurdler in history became the fastest indoors as well. Add his surprising feats in the dash, and he earned overwhelming selection as our men's Indoor Athlete Of The Year.

Runners-up: Russian triple jumper Leonid Voloshin, Cuban high jumper Javier Sotomayor and American horizontal jumper Erick Walder of Arkansas.

U.S. AOY: Walder.

Collegiate AOY: Walder.

Inna Lasovskaya bombed at Stuttgart last year but proved in an undefeated winter season that she's a major force in the triple jump. The European champion rewrote the record book, jumping beyond the old WR a total of 10 times.

Runners-up: Russian sprinter Irina Privalova, German long jumper Heike Drechsler and Jamaican sprinter Merlene Ottey.

U.S. AOY: Mazda TC's Gwen Torrence (60/200).

Collegiate AOY: Indiana State's Holli Hyché (55/200).

Harrier Team Depleted

U.S. teams competing in the World Cross Country Championships this weekend will be missing three very significant names, as neither national champ—Lynn Jennings, Todd Williams—nor men's Trials winner Bob Kennedy will be going.

Jennings, three times a winner at the worlds, explains, "The primary reason for me not running there is that the dream I had for the World Cross Country Championships has been satisfied after 8 years, 5 medals and 3 top finishes.

"I proved to myself what I could do and satisfied my dream. Now it is time to have the same fulfillment on the track."

Williams simply opted not to run, saying, "The Worlds is the hardest race anywhere. You have to be peaked mentally and physically. I just wanted to bypass it to see how the rest of my season went without having to peak in March."

Kennedy, ironically, wanting to concentrate on cross country, ignored undercover running this winter. But now he has had to cut short his harrier season after having a stress reaction in his shins.

Quotes Of The Week

Now here's a guy who looooves high jumping:

Germany's Wolf-Hendrik Beyer, a 7-8<sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub> performer, told Bild, "For me, high jumping is better than an orgasm. At that precise moment when my legs clear the bar and the jump is successful, that's where the pleasure culminates. I wouldn't change that moment for any sex act."

Longtime Atoms TC coach Fred Thompson told Vic Ziegel of the New York Daily News how 6-year-olds often react when they line up for their first competition in New York's Colgate Games:

"They stand on the starting line and pee on themselves. We always keep a mop near the start."

NEXT WEEK: The final U.S. women's indoor list for '94, plus results from some of the best early season outdoor invitationals: Florida Relays, Sun Devil, Stanford, Raleigh, Alabama and others.
