Oly Fest: JJK Comes Home

Edwardsville, Illinois, July 8-10—Thanks to hometown favorite Jackie Joyner-Kersey and a new $5.5 million track facility, athletes at the U.S. Olympic Festival were treated with an ideal setting for competition.

The track, looking more rectangular than oval, seemed to win favor with the athletes despite its flattened turns. And U.S. track athletes couldn't have asked for a better crowd.

"Someone compared it to the movie Field of Dreams" said triple jump winner Sheila Hudson-Strudwick. "If you build it, they will come."

The fans came in droves, the three-day attendance of 31,061 better than the last two editions combined. Even the temporary stands were filled, and the placards the fans waved made it abundantly clear why they had come: "Go Jackie, Go! (Welcome Home)"

JJK competed every day, giving the budget-troubled Festival a great boost. She saved her best for first, hurdling a meet record 12.69 for the finest performance of the weekend.

"I knew the Olympic Festival people would need my support here," said Joyner-Kersey.

Husband-coach Bobby Kersee added, "I don't want anyone to question Jackie's commitment. Many athletes are over in Europe making hundreds of thousands of dollars, while Jackie is doing everything she can for the community.

"We need to continue to uplift track & field in this country. We need to continue to make an effort to bring those athletes here and break those records on American soil."

Those words take on even more importance in the face of continued USOC budget cuts and the elimination of one Festival in each quadrennium.
