QUESTIONNAIRE RESULTS

Results of the third annual Track Nuts poll. All questions refer to the 1956 season, unless otherwise stated. Results are given in terms of total vote, except in cases where only one vote was cast for a person or event that result is indicated as "1". Many performances in questions 11, 12 and 13 had to be thrown out as they were not single performances, as called for. Likewise, when answers were complicated by ties, or tomfoolery answers, they also had to be left out of the counting. For example, one TN answered question 22 "Yes & No" and then for 23 wrote: "Morrow soundest bet, but I expect an upset by Sime or King."

ON THE INDOOR CIRCUIT

Parry O. bids to become the first man ever to win the indoor AAU shot title 5 years in a row. Herbert Schwarze of Illinois AC won four 1926-9. Pat McDonald won five titles but not in a row. O'Brien has broken the world record three AAUs in a row... British shot champ Tiny Palmer, a 56 footer, will compete... an 1885 Harvard report credits C.H. Atkinson with having vaulted 7'1", within an inch of the American amateur record, and C.H. Kp with an American collegiate hammer record of 88'11"... the Percy Beard Jr. of the Naval Academy who is running the indoor highs is the son of Percy Beard Sr., one time world record holder at 14.2 and now athletic director at Florida, young Beard's coach, Earl Thomson, held the record that the elder Beard broke... Dan Ferris was undecided whether to okay Milt Campbell's 7.0 for 60 highs, as he suspected that the starter's gun did not flash... no miler has won the AAU indoor title for two straight years since Cunningham in 1938-9. Only Gil Dodds, with wins in 1942, 44 and 47, has won it more than once in the last 18 years... Ron Delany was running 10 to 13 miles a day when getting in shape for the Olympics, now has cut it down to 7 a day as he doesn't believe one can keep up the longer work. At one time he was doing 120 push-ups a night...

Indoor quotes: FRED DWYER: "I had been pointing for the AAU as my first mile and I figured I'd take about ten days to change from my two mile training. Now that I am running in the NYAC meet I'll have to rush things. This week I'll do two miles of jogging tuning up on Monday, followed by ten fast quarters to pick up speed, then two miles for the purpose of unwinding; Tuesday, it will be two miles up, five fast half miles, two miles down; Wednesday will be the same as Monday; Thursday will be five or six miles of jogging only. I don't know why I got sick in the Millrose Games. I did all the things I normally do, nothing different. I ate a big steak at four in the afternoon, which is par for me. But once the race started, I began hiccuping, my stomach started doing tracks and I figured there was no sense going on."

GEORGE EASTMENT, Manhattan coach: "It wouldn't surprise me one bit if Ira Murchison runs the first board track six flat sixty some time in Madison Square Garden this year. That little guy has a fantastic start, and what a pickup at 40 yards. I'd say he has the best chance of anyone of getting the record down to 6.0. I became convinced it could be done when Milt Campbell hit 7.0 in the high hurdles. I think the big point in favor of the sprinters is the new runway they have installed in the Garden for the sprints and hurdles. The old one slowed down the runners somewhat near the end."

ARNIE SOWELL, following his indoor 880 record: "I didn't expect a record. I couldn't tell the exact speed at which we were going. I just wanted to beat Courtney. I knew, off his great race at Boston, that he was ready. When I took a short lead I could tell from the roar of the crowd Tom was getting closer to me. I managed to hang on. I haven't been training especially for the half mile. I'm looking forward to the AAU 1000. I feel a bit stronger this season. I've gained five pounds since last year, and am 140 now. I think that extra weight helps me."

MILT CAMPBELL, after his record: "I didn't figure it was that fast. I hadn't gone all out in the semis, so I had a bit left in the finals. I wanted to win, and win big, for today is my father's birthday."

REGGIE PEARMAN, after beating Jenkins in 1:11: "I don't give a darn about being 32; it doesn't show. I still train as I did when I started running in the big races years ago."

TOM COURTNEY, after losing to Sowell: "Naturally I think I'll beat Sowell indoors. If I didn't I'd quit racing him. I can beat him indoors or outdoors."

RON DELANY: "Let them boo if they like. But that's not going to make me speed up. The only thing that may is if the field goes out faster, I win the races the way it is. Why should I change? Maybe the ones who are getting beaten ought to step things up. That way they might have a better chance. But if they don't want to, that is okay with me, too."

SO THEY TELL US

TN SYD DERONER, one of the Oranges, N.J.: "The pole vaulting at the Millrose Games was tremendous. Especially when you think about the conditions. The vaulters run down the runway with all sorts of confusion within a few yards of them. While Gutowski was running up to try 15'3", a whistle blew, the band started to play and he missed badly. At 15' Guts was over cleanly on his first attempt but the pole fell against the bar. On his third try he made 15'3" and then after Richards had sailed over 15'6" on his first try, Gutowski duplicated it. Bragg wore a bandage on his right thigh and did not look good going out when he missed 14'4". Murchison showed us something different for him. He was off poorly in the 60 final, but came on very well in the last 20 to win cleanly. In the mile Seaman looked much better than he did in Philly and may do better in the coming meets. I hear Max Truex may be in the AAU."

TN JACK MORTLAND, Bowling Green, O.: "It looks as if Courtney just cannot beat Arnie on the boards. From all I read he really wanted the one at the Millrose, and was confidently predicting a record, and yet Sowell, who confessed he is rather short on training, takes both the race and the record. Actually Arnie's style of running is much better adapted to the boards than Courtney's. Sowell's smooth easy stride and his quick acceleration are perfectly suited to the boards, and he seems to be even more beautiful to watch indoors than out. Courtney's power running just isn't built for indoors. So it looks to me as if Sowell will continue his mastery indoors, but I'll still stick with Courtney outdoors."

WES SANTEE (remember him?): "I don't see why Fred Dwyer shouldn't run a 4 minute mile this year. He is in fabulous shape, the best I have ever seen him. He is conditioning himself well. It's smart to start with those long races, building up stamina. Now he's ready for speed."

TOM COURTNEY, re the Olympic 800: "I ran out of gas 30 yards from the tape. And the Lord really helped me the rest of the way. I didn't seem able to gather myself for my usual stretch drive, I could see the tape ahead and I kept lunging for it with every step. The horrifying part about it was that the tape never seemed to get any closer. I was completely fagged out. My legs were like rubber. I didn't pass out but I could hardly stand up. I knew rather vaguely that I had hit the tape. But to make sure I had won I asked Johnson."

TN BERT NELSON: "On June 5, 1954, following the Compton Invitational TN UanRasey and I made our picks for the 1956 U.S. Olympic team. Uan had only 12 right and I had but 11. At least the change and progress keeps track an ever interesting sport."
